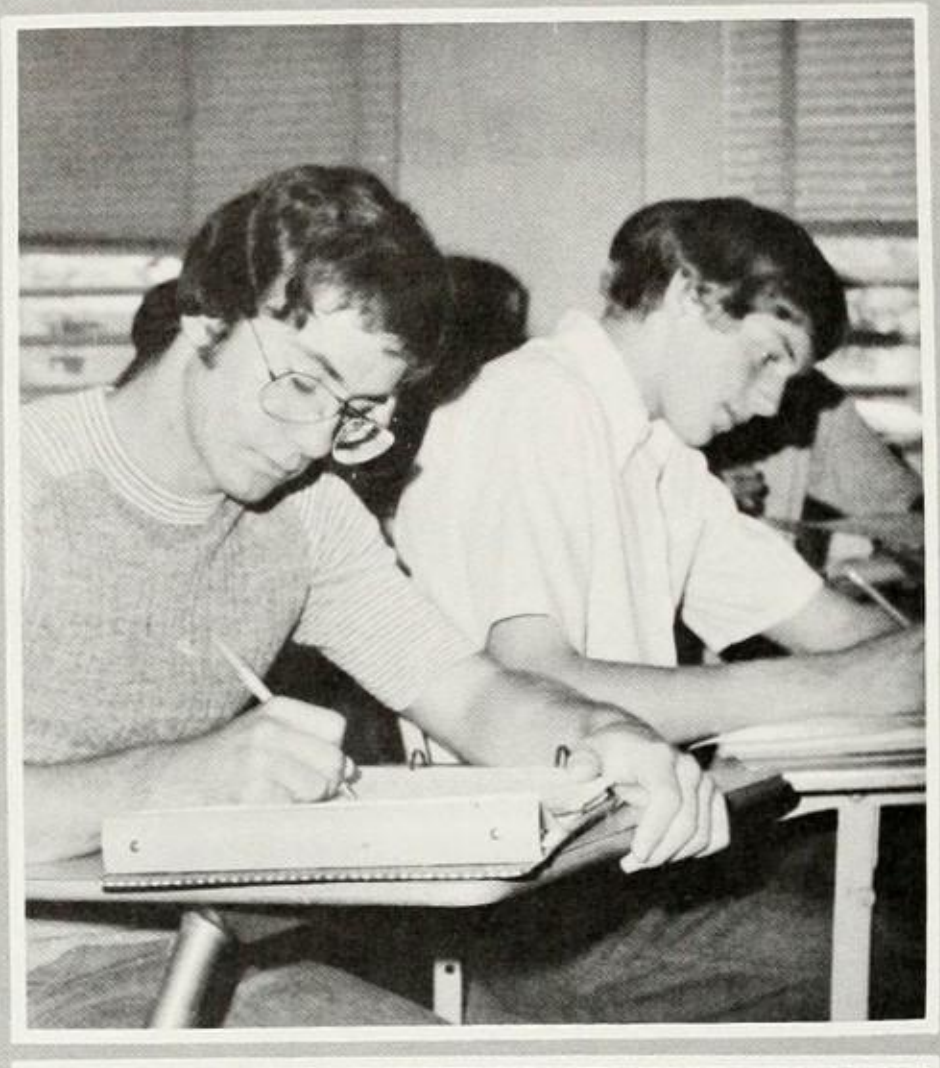
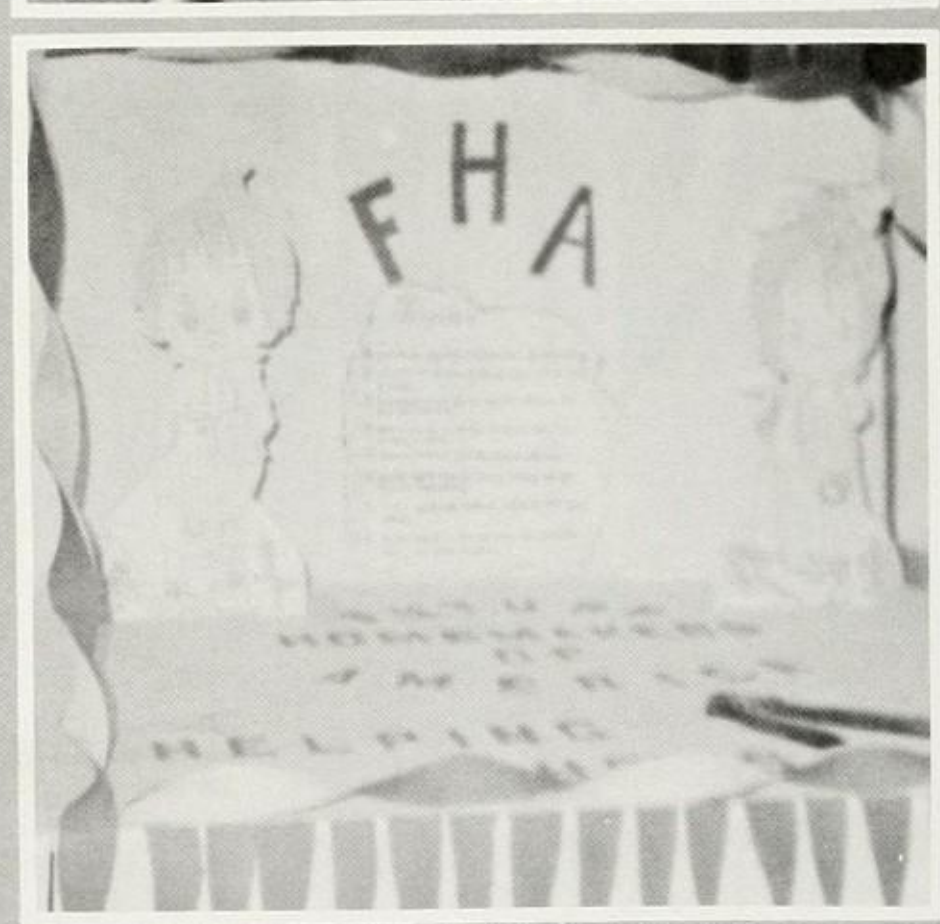
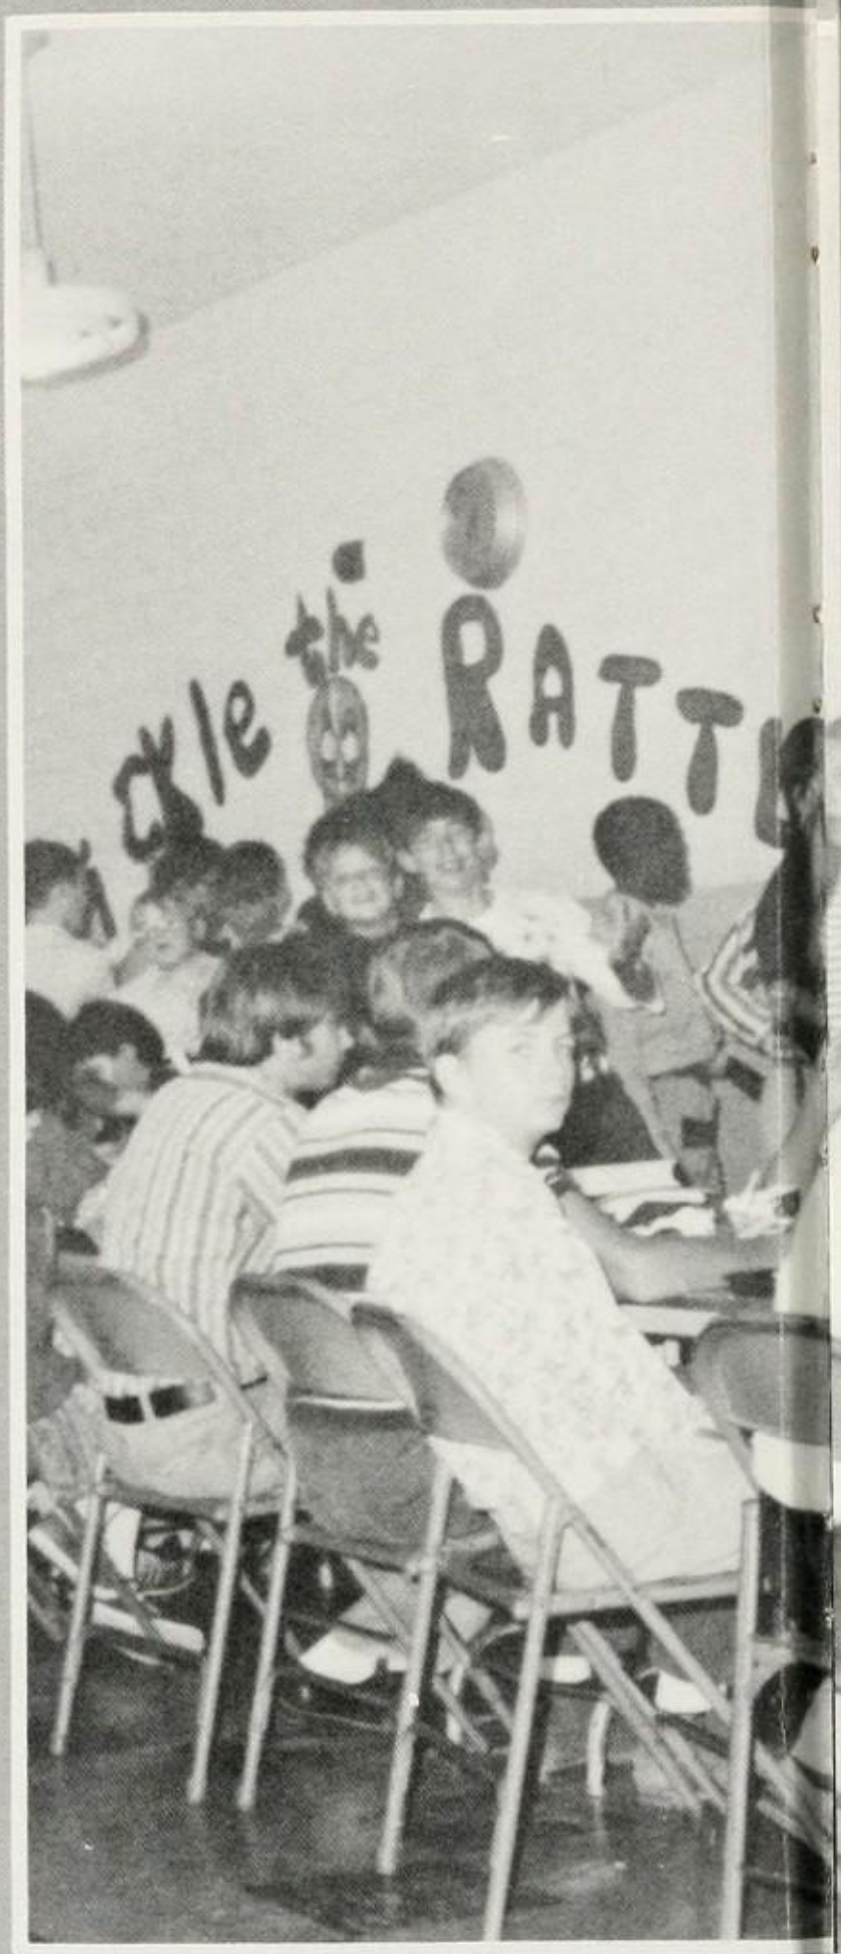
Working Together Proves Importance of . . .







. . . School and Community

School and community unite in working for the betterment of education of Dalhart's youth. Basic is the tax revenue that supports a growing school system. Of equal importance is the informal participation of patrons in school affairs. Mothers serve suppers; fathers build tracks; parents supervise home projects; business subscribes for special programs and advertise in the yearbook. The public contributes their special talents to schools through time, exhibits, judging, and efforts.

The community cheers at athletic contests. They applaud musical programs and assemblies.

Support is not a one way street. Students and faculty work with the towns people to have a new tennis court and to innovate recreation; such as dances, summer sports and jobs.

Students work in programs to learn new skills and improve services and profits. Churches maintain active youth programs.

Each group, be it academic, business, family, or organizational, strives in a cooperative spirit to build a better Dalhart, a better world, but most of all a better individual.

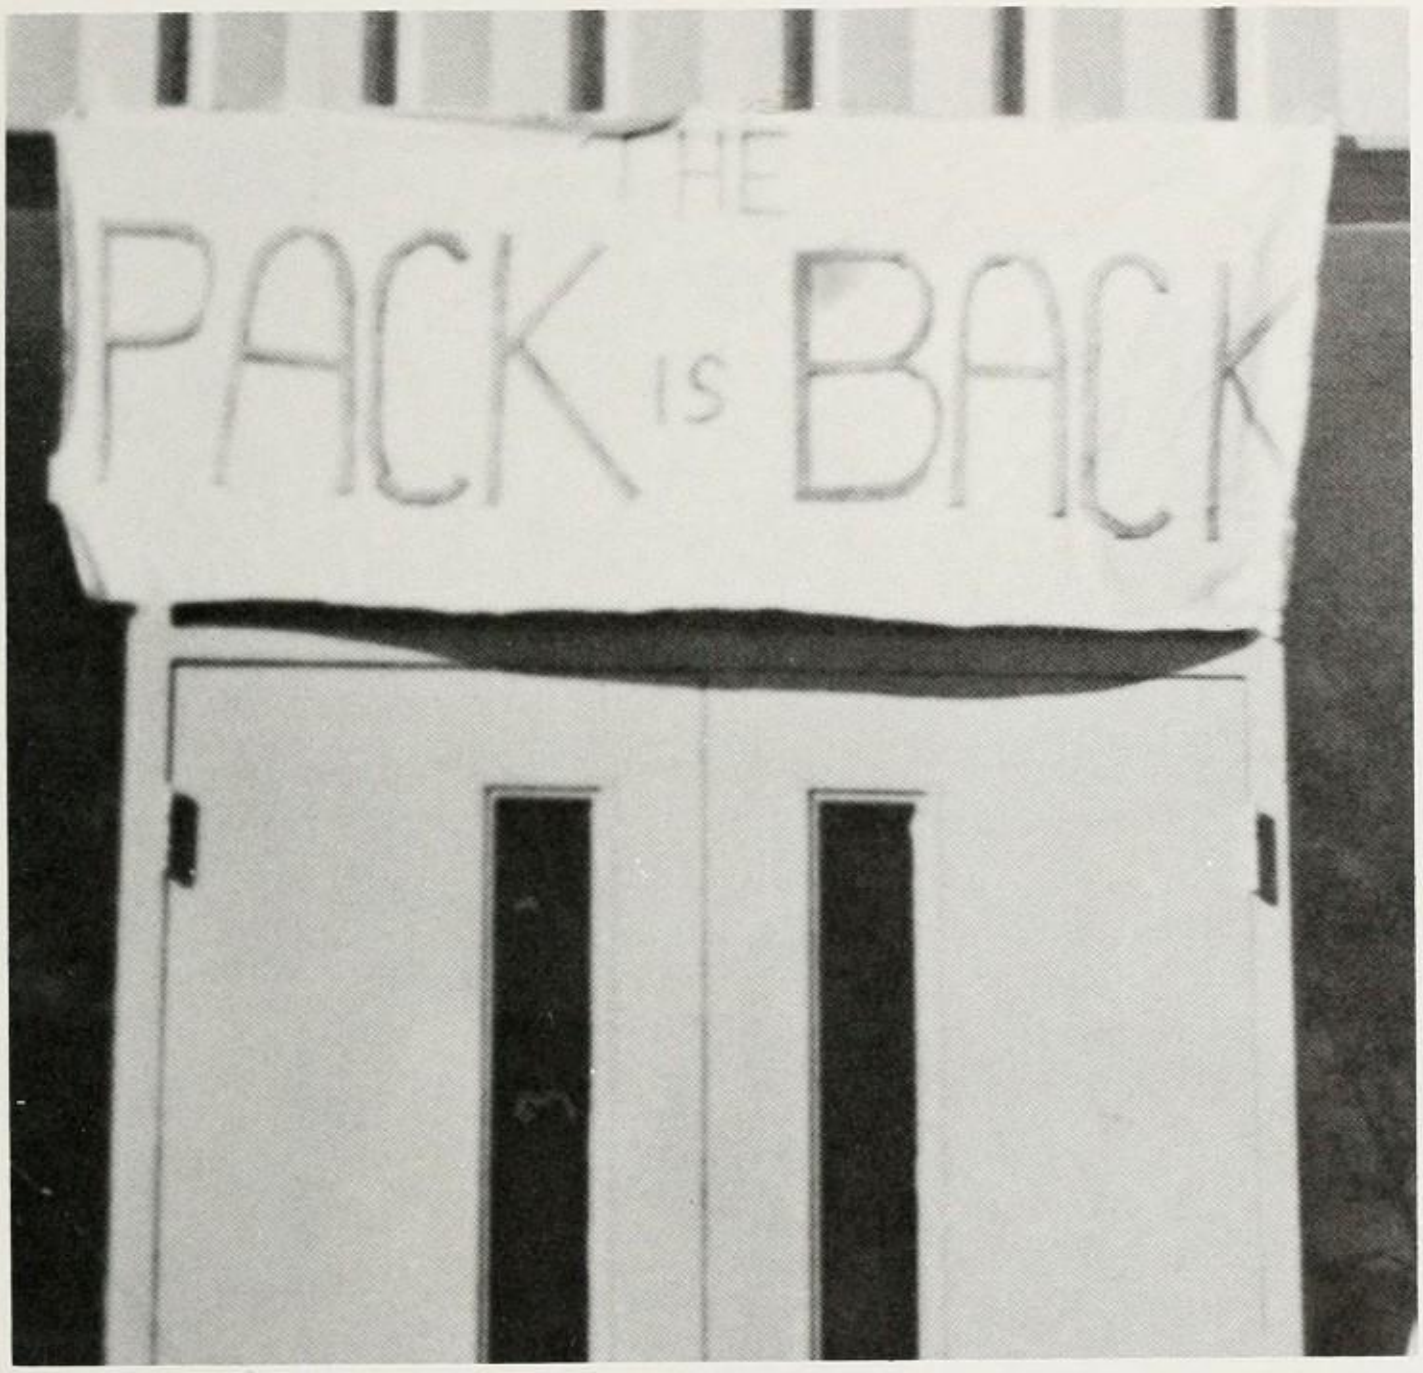
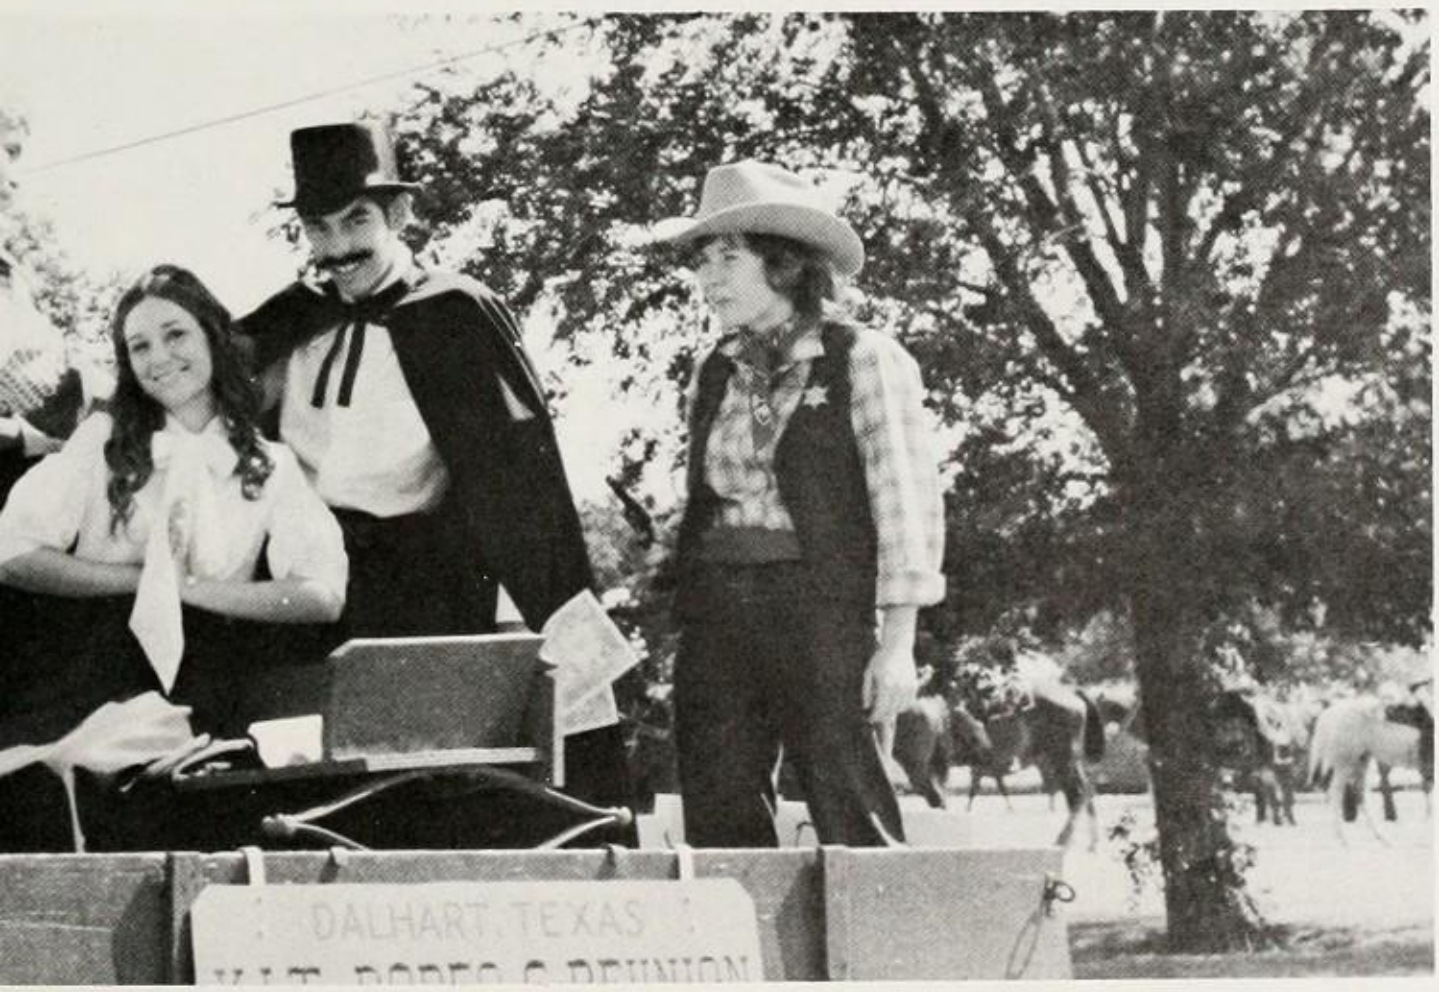
Grow Through Cooperation, Trust



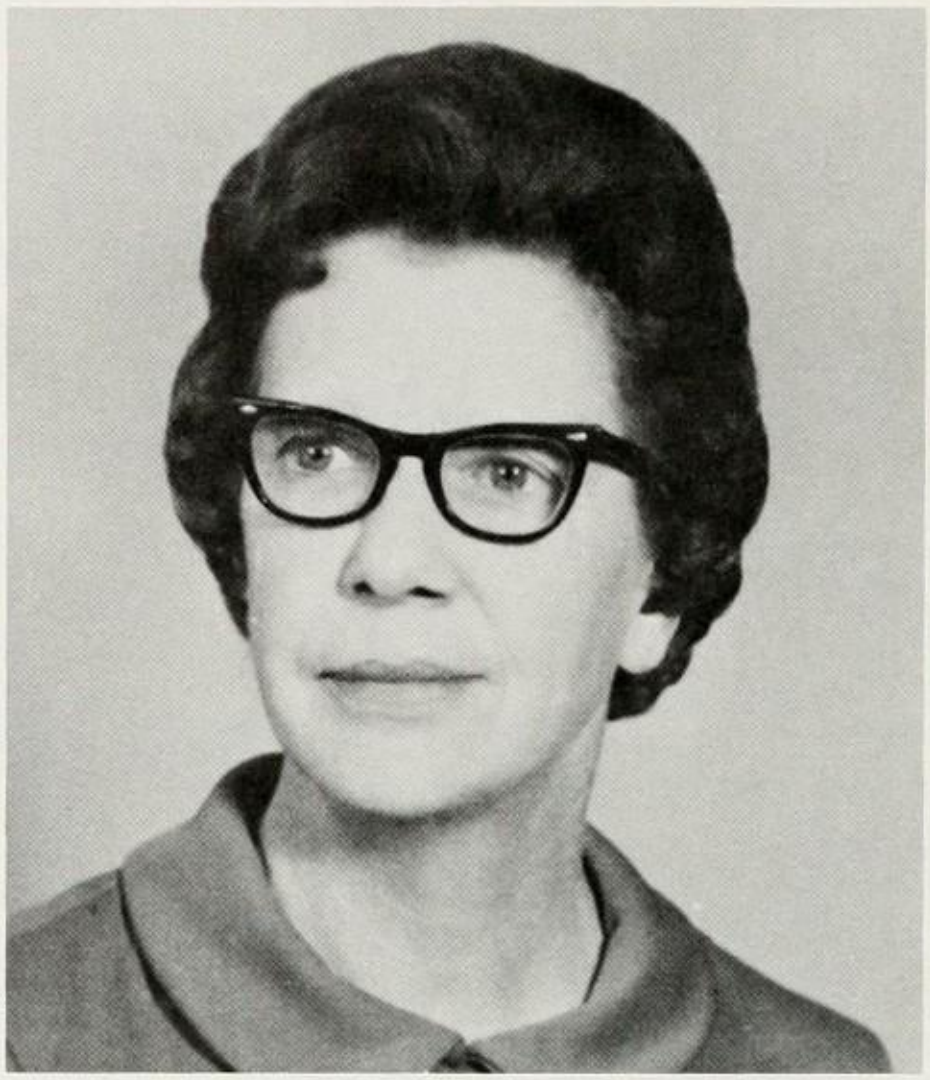


Work in School, Community Brings Honor to Mrs. Phillips

Who is it that always stops in the halls, has a warm "hello" and asks how you are doing in your classes? It is Mrs. Ola Phillips, counselor at DHS. She worries about all students and encourages them to come to see her if they have a problem.

Among her many duties are helping students form good study habits, administering all types of tests, helping seniors select a college, prepare transcripts. She keeps an overall average calculation for each student.

Mrs. Phillips is not only a counselor to the students, but also to parents who are helping their children enroll in college or raise their grades. Mrs. Phillips is more than a counselor, she is a friend to all who know her. It is with pride that we dedicate the 1973-74 Lone Wolf Annual to Mrs. Ola Phillips.



Mrs. Phillips not only works in the school but in the community too.

The student body presented Mrs. Phillips with a bouquet of roses at the Boys' Ranch pep rally.

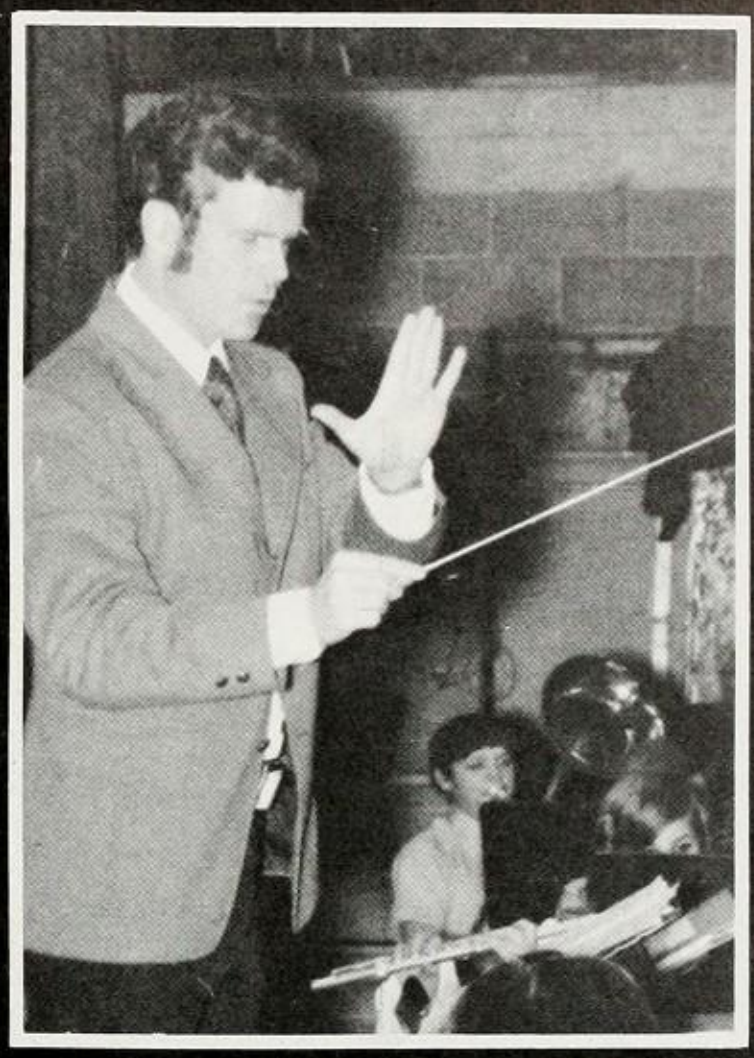
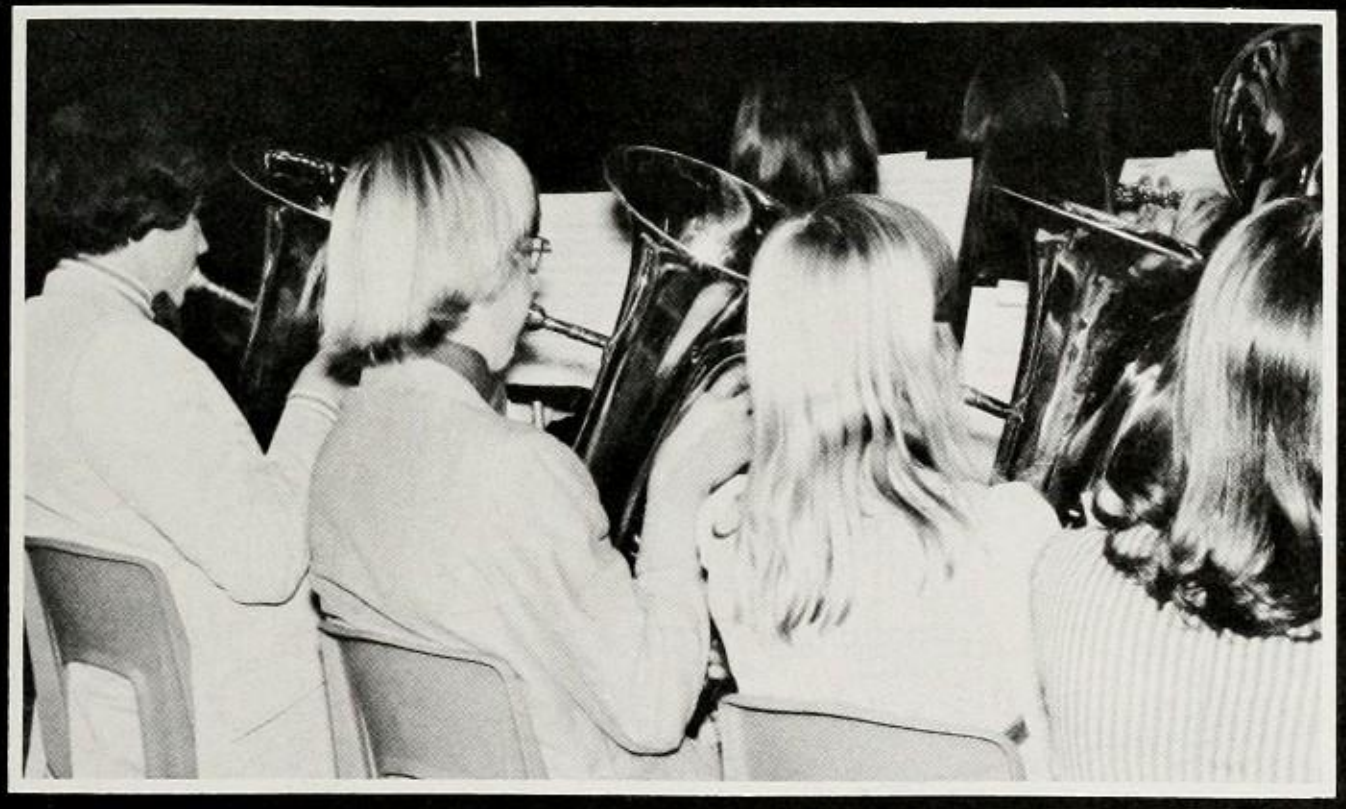
Land: In Command

Left: Mr. Robertson, the seemingly fearless band director, really looks enthusiastic as he directs the high school band at the concert. Right: Mr. Houston, assistant director, tells band members to "hold it down" as he looks concerned about the volume.





The "swingin' band from Golden Wolf Land" participated in the Tri-State Fair parade, UIL marching and concert contest. Between contests and parades the band played during half time at football games and at pep rallies. They also had Christmas and Spring Concerts, with the help of junior high and elementary bands. Under the direction of Mr. Robertson and assistant director, Mr. Houston the band filled the auditorium with the "sounds of music."

The band not only played music but had other activities too. These included work day, band suppers, funny hat day, parties, and trips. It was a busy year for the Golden Wolf Band, but a good one.

Jr. High Choir Makes

Girls, dressed in their first long formals and boys, wearing new suits, sang the familiar Christmas carols in the annual Christmas Concert on December 13. Mr. Hubert Murphy directed at the concert; he is also the director for the Junior High Choir which meets third and fourth hours. Miss Denise Gaskill is accompanist.

In the spring the choir entered UIL competition as a group; some entered in choral ensemble and in solo work.

The spring concert was another highlight of their second semester.

Students learn to convey their own expressions through the speech classes taught at DHS by Bill Slagle. While Speech I students focus their attention on the fundamentals of communication, Speech II students are expanding on the special locutions of the theater. Speech III students concentrate on the contest divisions that they are specialized in.

Together. In School. In Life

"To help ready each student for a life of communication, is the objectives of English I," according to Mrs. Rebecca King. This is equally true in Language Arts 7 and 8.

Reading and English classes rely heavily on all available libraries, plus a mountain of paperbacks. Most compositions are centered around individual opinions.

In DHS the courses are geared toward two areas, -college bound and vocational students. English II includes: mastery of technical grammar, vocabulary, speech activities, brief units in letter writing and journalism. The library is used constantly for reference and for research.

In English III, Mrs. Rowell asks each student to write a research paper on his favorite American author.

Written Communication, primarily for the college bound, keeps seniors burning the electricity (energy crisis or not) while they write, write, write.

"Most graduating seniors are grateful for this course when they reach college," says Mr. Blocker. It covers the history of reading of English Literature.

Every student may be found in an English class learning the arts and skills of communication.

History Links People in

"He who knows only his own generation, remains forever a child," are words carved above the library at the University of Colorado. It might be equally valid to state that every man and woman must know the culture of others if he is to become a competent citizen.

These mottoes represent the goals of the social studies beginning with a study of Texas history and geography in grade seven, followed by the United States History and government in the eighth grade. Freshmen broaden their horizons to the vast sweep of mankind's progress in their study of world history.

American History, including a study of the U.S. Constitution, is a junior subject. Each eighteen-year-old is encouraged to register and vote. Research papers provide an intensive study of one subject, such as the energy crisis, for individuals. Government, including federal, state, and local laws, is required of all seniors. Here, study, discussion, films, prepare the high school graduate to become a participating United States citizen.

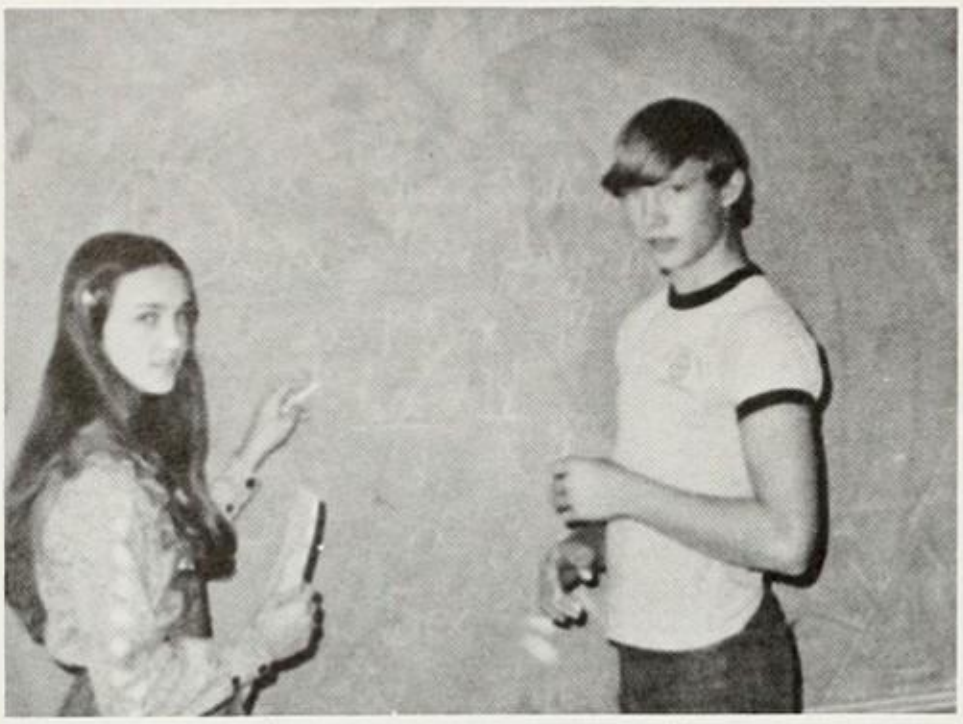
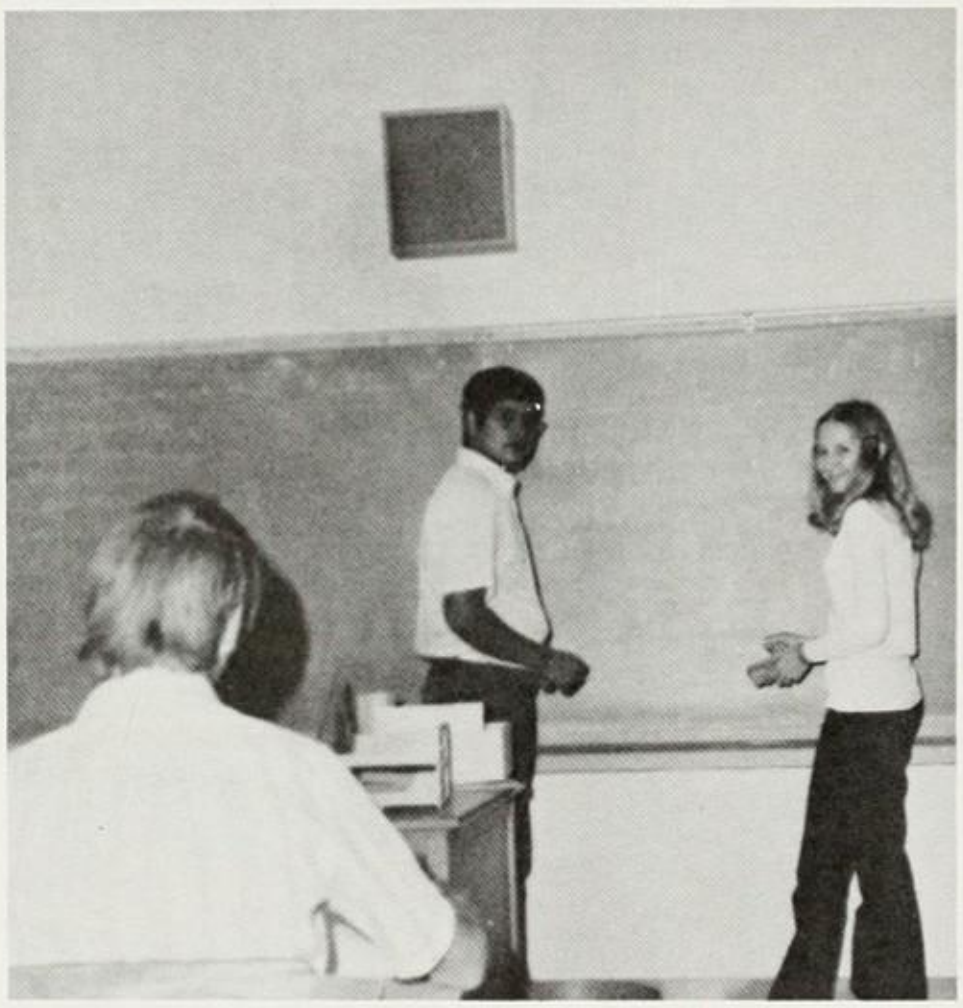
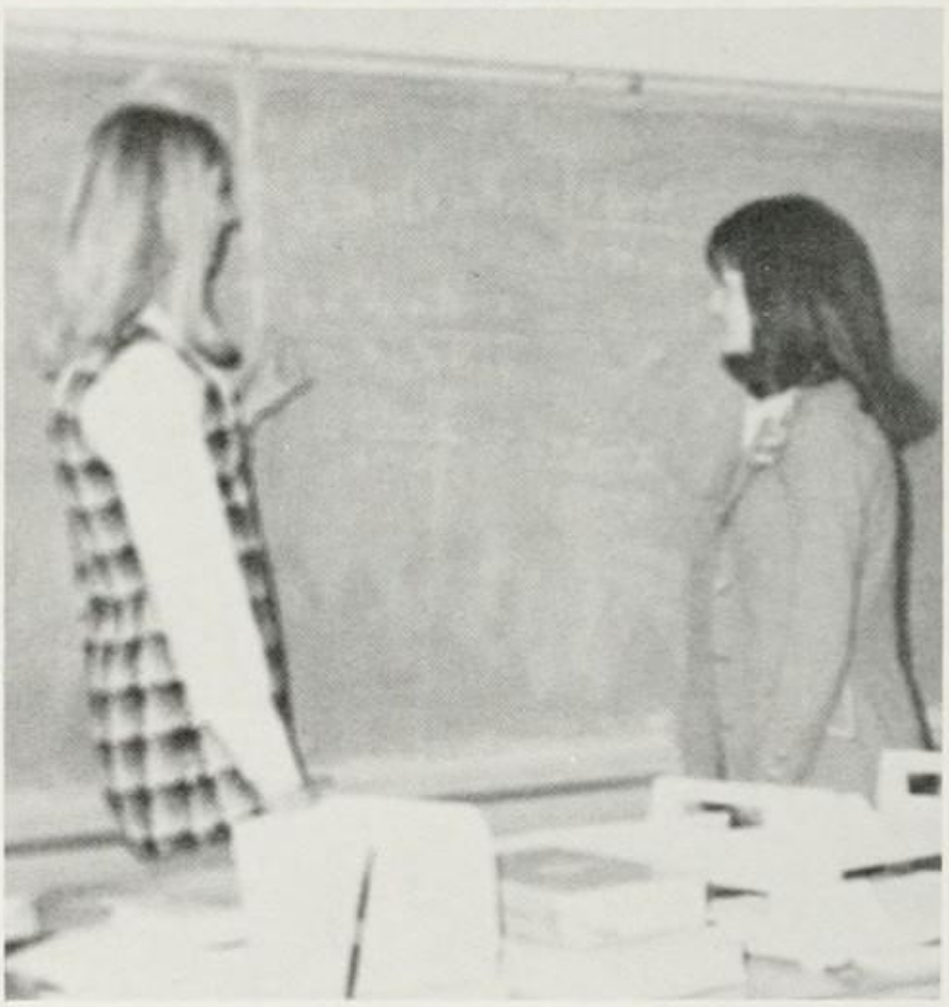
Basic Math Is Essential







Mathematic classes taught at DHS are Algebra I and II, geometry, and trigonometry. These classes are taught to prepare the students for college, if they desire to attend. Mr. Brewer teaches Algebra I to those who desire to take it. Mrs. Coulter teaches geometry and trigonometry. This is Mrs. Coulter's first year to teach at DHS and the students gave her a hearty welcome.

The other mathematical courses taught at DHS and AFJHS are Related Maths I and II, taught by Miss McCurry, Mrs. Fisk, and Mr. Brewer, eighth and seventh grade math, taught by Mrs. Fisk and Miss McCurry. All of these classes are taught to instruct students on the uses of mathematical tools.

Student Scientists Unravel Mysteries

Science is the foundation of the modern world, especially in America with technology ranging from the electric can opener to space ships.

In A. F. J. H. S., seventh grade students learn the fundamentals of structure, function, and care of each part of the body. A study of plants and animals is also made. Mr. Woosley keeps the attention of students with experiments and specimens.

Mr. Simmons teaches earth science which extends to the planetary system and beyond. There is a large rock collection, models of earth, moon, sun, and planets. Experiments again are important.

Physical science, taught by Mr. McCune in the high school chemistry room, intrigues freshman and others with use of chemicals, experiments demonstrating simple physics principles.

Students, with high scientific interest study physics and chemistry, which offer a background for professions in home economics, agriculture, engineering, and the expanding medical fields.

Biology, with study and experimentation, brings sophomores closer to nature, both plant and animals. They learn about the identification and characteristics of species, and how they help or hinder man. Few sophomores will forget that first dissection of a frog.

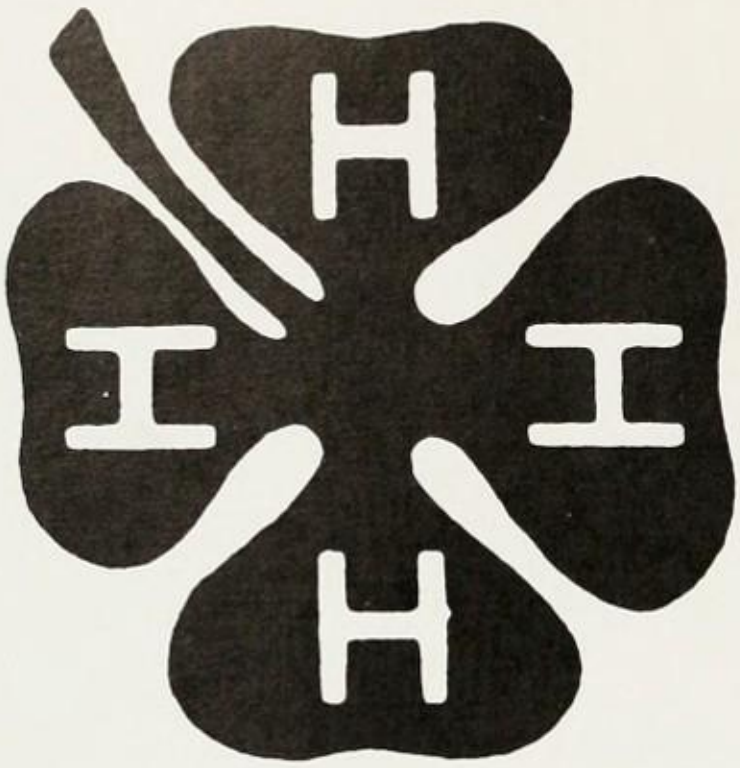
4-H-They Make "The Best Better"



Members of the 4-H clubs are improving their skills through projects, study, and meetings. Their activities include; cattle, lamb, swine, poultry, rabbits, home and yard improvement, land judging, baking and clothing, interior decorating. Personality development involves giving talks and demonstrations plus, "Share the fun activities", games skits, and music. Their slogans might be: "Get Involved", "Help Yourself by Helping Others", and the official "We Make the Best Better."

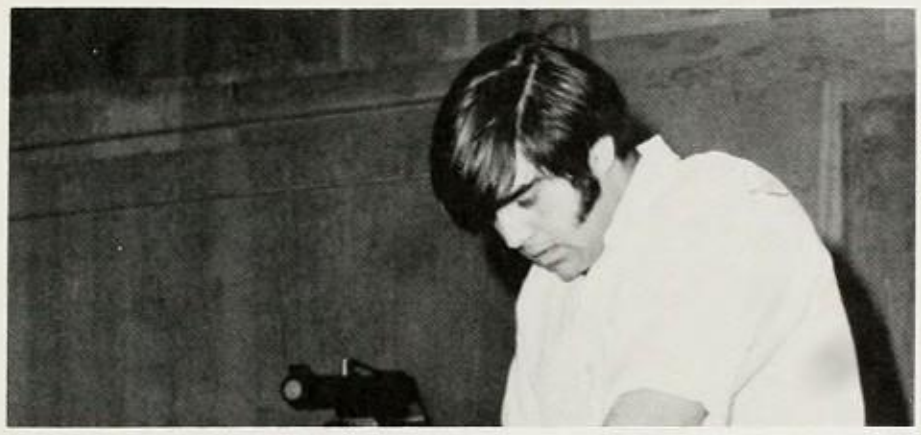
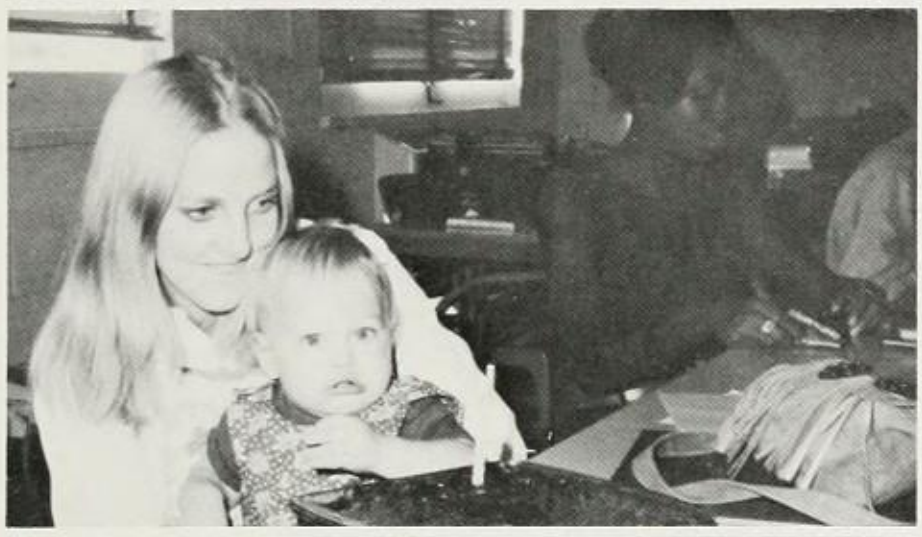
Cooperation, Key to Marriage, Education





They lead a double, (maybe triple) life. They hold jobs--not just for spending money or college expenses or a car--but a job to help support a family. They are married students finishing the requirements for a high school diploma. They are wives or husbands, and sometimes they have yet another role as parents. Five DHS students have successfully combined marriage and completing high school.

There are problems, of time of adjustment, or satisfying the demands of the teachers, employers, and in two cases, babies.

Gay Ames, a journalism student, says the main problem of a married high school student is finding time for; cooking, cleaning house, getting your husband off to work, caring for a baby, doing all the jobs connected in running a house, washing, mending, and caring for a family." "Then a married student must find time for study." "A student must be understanding of a husband getting home from a hard day's work. Married men may also have financial problems of supporting a family and self, and attending school.

Married students offer these suggestions for making a success of school and family. They say, "Get a schedule and stay with it." Have a husband or wife who understands. Explain your problem to your teacher. Have parents or in-laws who will help you regularly with jobs like babysitting. Most of all, BE DETERMINED TO MAKE A SUCCESS OF SCHOOL, JOB AND FAMILY."

Left-Top To Bottom: George Ortiz prepares to build furniture in Shop Class. Mrs. Gay Ames and son, Bradley, celebrate his first birthday by a party in journalism class. (We start them young on the yearbook). Mrs. Virginia Bass selects her style of invitation for DHS graduation. Karl and Vicki Gustin and daughter, Sammy Kaye. Mr. and Mrs. Robert Wilbur stand beside their new car purchased after marriage.

Council Links Faculty, Students

The Student Council dabbled, strove, slaved, pleaded, planned, and "boondoggled" to make this year a great one. Behind the scenes, members of the Council busied themselves with details like flowers, a crown, and finding just the right boy and girl for crown and flower bearers. With the hustle and bustle of Homecoming behind them, they looked forward to Christmas. After the Council had finished "flocking" themselves, they got down to the "old hard grind" and decorated a beautiful Christmas tree. On the last day of the semester, they presented the entire student body with the Christmas present of a mixer. Keeping in line with tradition, the Student Council took donations at the door to present as a Yuletide gift to a needy family.

The second semester began with a "bang." The old hard work put on a new face, for the Council began the fast and furious job of running the concession stands at the A and B basketball games. Just as the struggle to serve at the games began to slacken, planning Twirp week began. All of this constituted a joyous, hectic, memorable, and work-filled year for the Student Council.

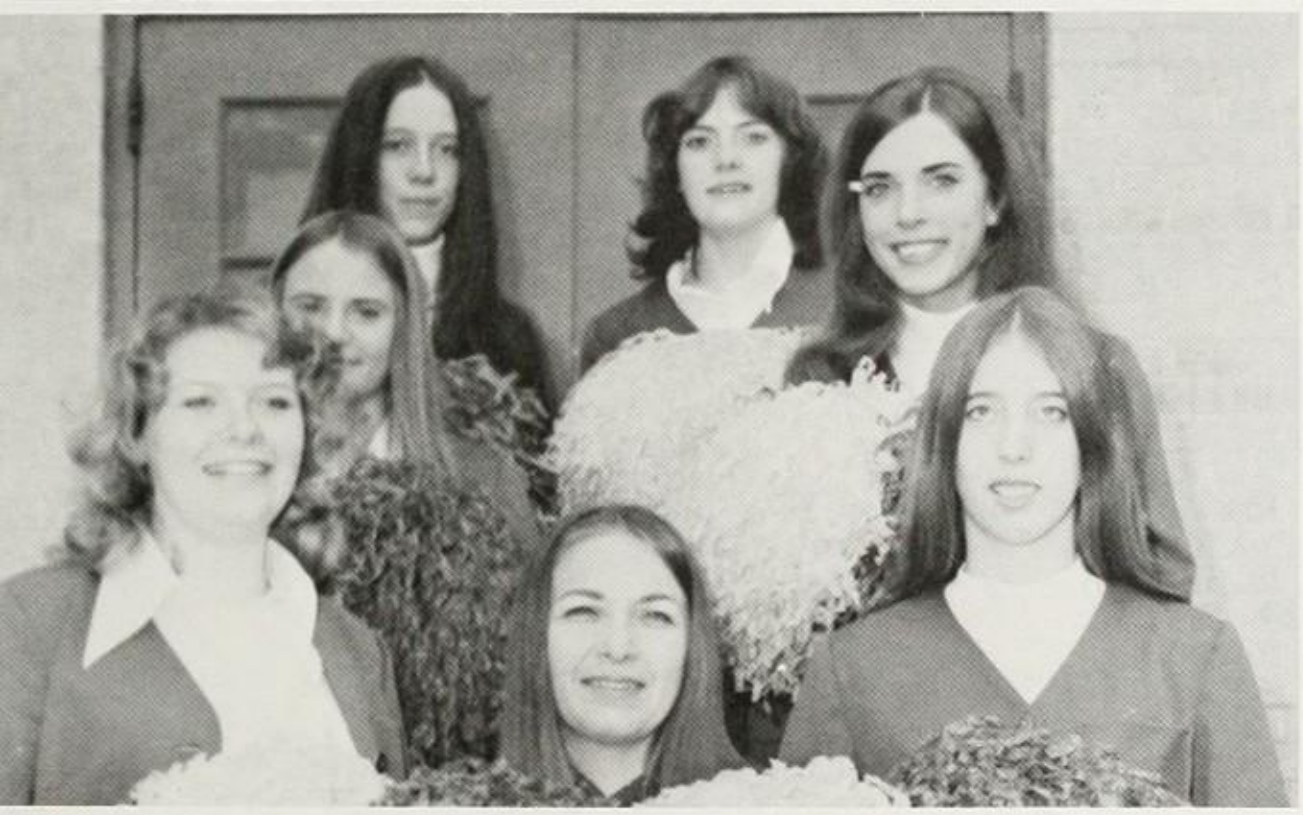
Small But Mighty Raise Spirit



Who is the heart throb of D.H.S. spirit?--The Pep Club. This small group of girls worked long and hard, stuffing the band pit with over ten thousand paper napkins. They were seen at the high school almost every Thursday night helping the cheerleaders to decorate the vast halls of D.H.S. They were the first to pass through the gates at a football game and sometimes the last to leave. They were the shivering figures outside the boys' gym, waiting to congratulate the team on a game well played, or console them for a defeat. They were the program sellers at home games and the never-tiring saleswomen of "spirit tags" every week. They were characterized by sore throats, laughing or crying faces, and an overdose of spirit. Though their number may be small, their spirit was mighty.

SPANISH

"Learning to Communicate"

"To enable students to express ideas in a foreign language and to communicate with nations of Spanish-speaking people are the objectives of classes of conversational Spanish, Spanish I and Spanish II, according the teacher Mrs. McDaniel."

Spanish broadens the cultural horizons and opens up possible job opportunities. This year Mrs. McDaniel is using more film strips and games. With use of the tape recorders students can hear themselves and then improve their pronunciation and sentence construction. Most students found entertainment in presenting plays in Spanish and in illustrating new vocabulary in posters and booklets. Bulletin boards with mottos and greetings in Spanish brightened the room.

The Spanish room helped boost the Christmas spirit with a Christmas tree in the room.

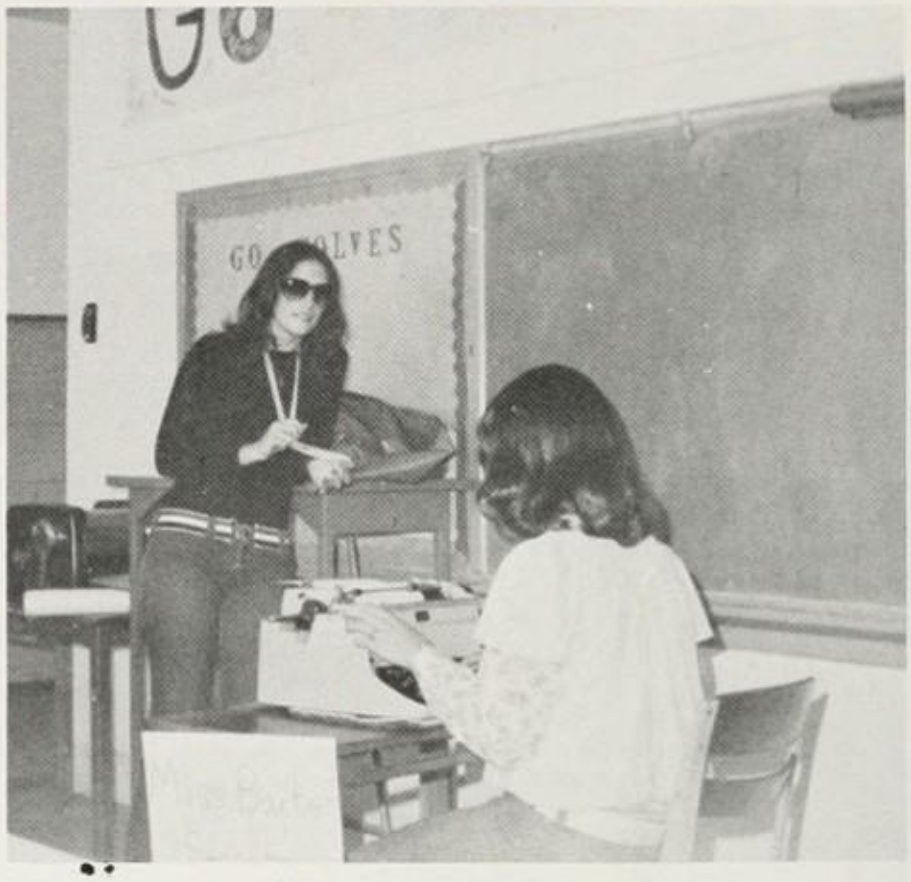
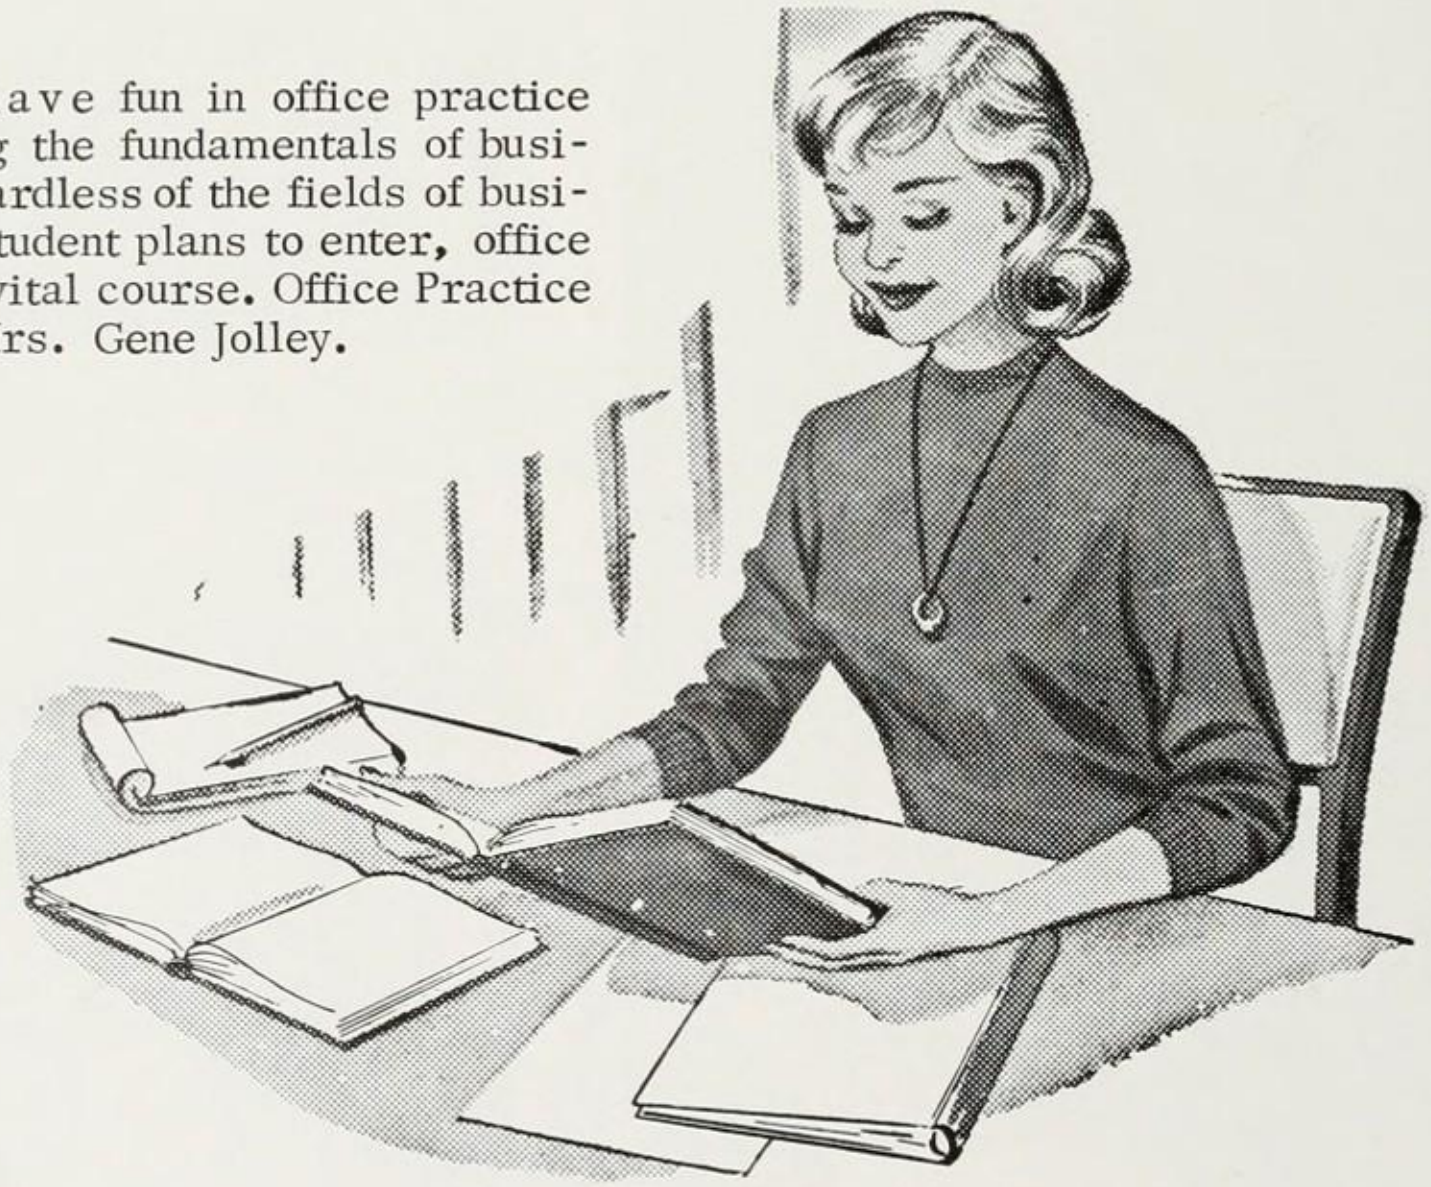
Business Education

"And now we're going to learn to add!" We thought you learned that in the 2nd grade, Becky and Beverly.

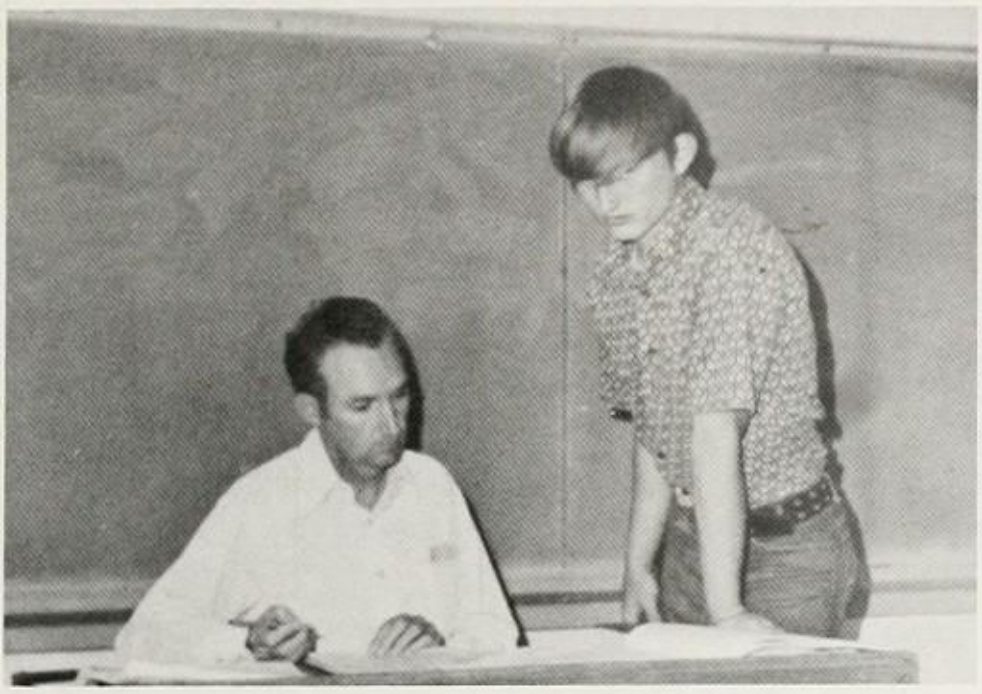


"Is this school or is this a business office, Lynnetta and Vicki?"

Students have fun in office practice while learning the fundamentals of business life. Regardless of the fields of business that a student plans to enter, office practice is a vital course. Office Practice is taught by Mrs. Gene Jolley.



Prepares Students



The goals of business education are to prepare students for office jobs, and for personal use.

Typing I taught by Mrs. Gene Jolley and Miss Portia Dees, covers learning of keyboards, personal and business letters, tabulations, reports and typing at least 35 words a minute.

Office practice has units of receptionist work, business machines, IBM work, and correct use of telephone. They improve their typing and other business skills. Mrs. Jolley prepares young women and men for jobs.

Shorthand students learn the vocabulary and the taking of dictation at 60 to 100 words per minute. In spite of the increase of mechanical recorders many businessmen still ask for secretaries trained in shorthand skills.

Bookkeeping is necessary for both personal and business use, as every citizen must keep records for income tax purposes. Mr. Jack Boston teaches fundamentals of journals, posting, accounts receivable and payable, as well as closing statements.

In the spring business students represent DHS at Panhandle State College.

FTA, Preparing to Teach, What They Learned

The Future Teachers of America is an organization composed of dedicated students who strive to make teaching an enjoyable experience. The theme this year is "Caring: Our commitment to the future." FTA members are involved in many activities such as attending the District XVI Convention at Canyon in November. Here, Kevin Caddell was elected District President for the school year corresponding secretary. In the early fall, District Mr. and Miss FTA eliminations were held in the Dalhart High School Auditorium under the direction of Mr. Kevin Green, District XVI Vice-President. The members also held a fund raising pre-game supper before the Panhandle game. In the spring the members participated in their State Project and in February attended the State Convention in Dallas.

The J. A. Hill Future Teachers of America chapter is under the supervision of two wonderful people who really care, Mrs. Mary Rowell and Mr. Bill Slagle. Without these fine people this year would not have been the success it was. To Mr. Slagle & Mrs. Rowell they give a hearty, THANKS!

Office Aides Make a Hard Job Easier

In The Picture Below Are office aides and Mrs. Matthews in the high school principal's office. They Are: Penny Salter, Ross Carter, Connie Lockhart, Steve Monden, Vonna Chisum, Janelle Stanley, Virginia Ashlock, Rosie Wilcoxson, and LeJean Hill.

Who is the Girl Friday to the entire High School, that includes principal, teachers, students and parents? It is Mrs. Merri Lou Matthews, secretary to Mr. Sullivan. She keeps records, attendance and financial; she types innumerable records and reports; she duplicates that "last minute test"; she helps with almost every activity. Through it all she sparkles with a smile, and a cheery word of encouragement. Helping her are the office aides who are learning office routines and skills.

Journalism Is Creative Writing, Work

Journalism students were active this year creating a yearbook, writing, school news for the DALHART DAILY TEXAN, and KXIT Radio, and practicing for contest.

A new project this year was a literary magazine for DHS. This was a collection of essays, poems and other original writings of high school and freshmen students.

Special fund raising activities included a spook house and a movie.

Students, other than those pictured, who helped in the yearbook are: Kay Ridenour, Connie Nixon, Kyle Bishop, Wanda Hunnicutt, Jason Kelley, and Gina Higgs.

Journalism students were active all year long making the annual, writing editorials and news articles for t. newspaper, and KXIT radio. A second semester project was the collection of essays, poems, and other original writings for the first literary magazine of DHS. Most of the students entered UIL Journalism contests. The students in journalism are selected by Miss Dees, sponsor.

The importance of these students in the school is really infinite. The news of many happenings are written in this class. All the who's, what's, when's, where's why's and how's seem to make their way into their hands. They give much of themselves to record school life. Yet during all this they enjoy being themselves.

Prepare Now for Better Tomorrow

"Our goal in sponsoring FHA is to provide community action that will be helpful to the girls as a group and as individuals." stated Miss Connie Nicholas and Miss Judy Kieschnick, Home Ec. teachers and FHA sponsors.

Money-making projects included a garage sale and selling Stanley Products. They became involved in the County Fair, making a contribution to the Muscular Dystrophy Fund, and having a Christmas project for the elderly.

Faye Dowdy won 1st place in District and 10th in State in "Make it Yourself with Wool" contest in November. Girls have attended meeting on Impact, a new program of work for the FHA this year.

Home and Family Living course covers personal development, love and marriage, purchasing food and planning meals, studying nutrition, and evaluating projects. Students also enjoy the arts and crafts in this class.

Mrs. Kaye Bezner, teacher of the freshmen home ec. class, has girls busy learning early the value of homemaking.

Mrs. Bezner's Homemaking I classes, which include 9th, 10th, and 11th graders, were very busy this past year.

The study areas include child care with special observations, the construction of clothing, study of textiles, and labs on food preparation. Other activities were periods at the local kindergartens and study of care of clothing.

Mechanical Drawing I and II, Shop I and II are taught by Mr. Bill Perry. In these classes, approximately 45 students learn the fundamentals of making, reading, and interpeting a drawing of simple furniture for their future homes and gain skills which lead to a job. Some students may decide to pursue carpentry, architecture, or related careers in college or in earning a living. Students enjoyed using the new equipment this year. The new equipment included table saw, radial saw, and lathe.

Determination and Dedication Prove

Amid spirit, drive, and ability the students of D. H. S. began preparation for Homecoming '73. "Determination is the Key in '73" served as the theme with the classes decorating doors. Mrs. Davis's study hall took first with Mr. Blocker's and Mr. Murphy's doors as runners-up.

On Thursday the students and community enjoyed a snake dance and bonfire to boost spirit. The juniors sold mums and the seniors sponsored the pre-game supper of "chicken supreme".

At half time of the Dalhart-Tucumcari game Kathy Tow was crowned Homecoming Queen.

The week was topped off with the Wolves winning 56-0. They really proved that dedication and determination are the key.

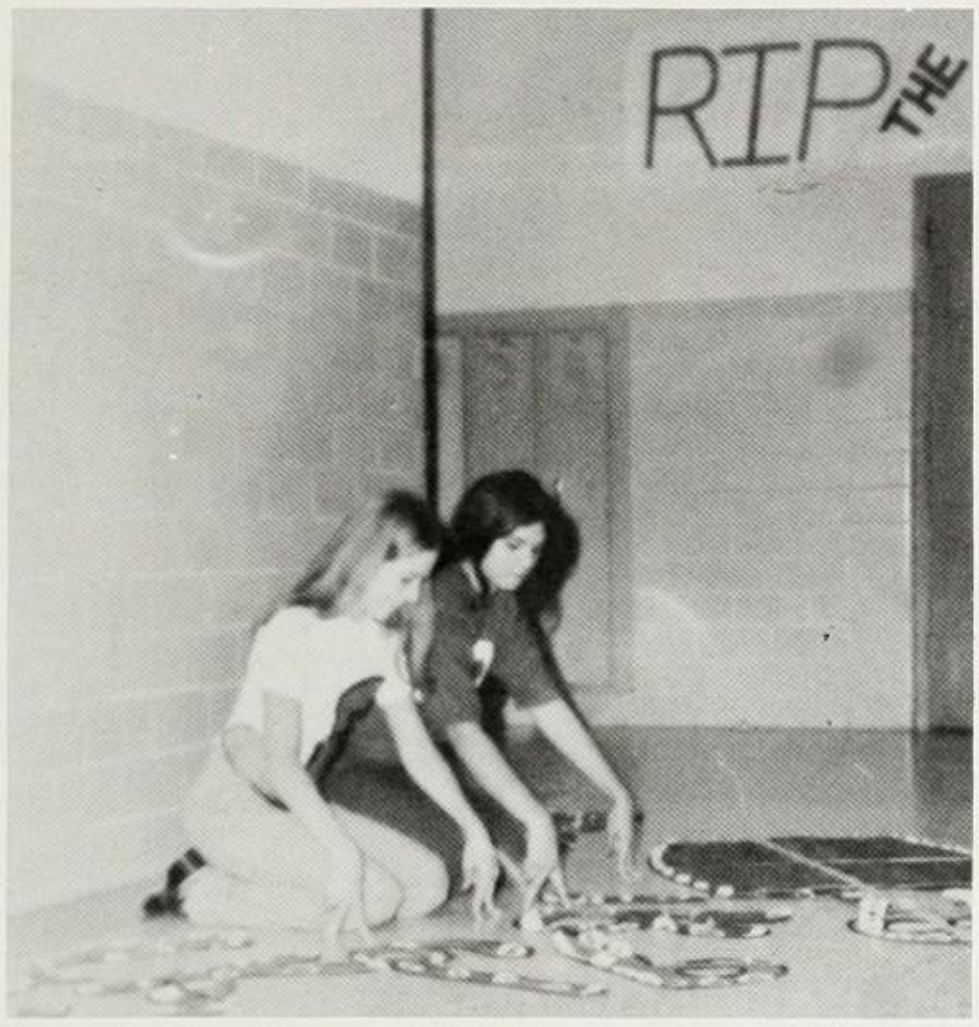
to Boost Spirit for All Sports



"The spirit makers" "the unsung heroines," "the most loyal", "the leaders of DHS" are all phrases that might describe the six girls who plan, rehearse and lead the most spirited pep rallies in the Texas Panhandle. This feeling is expressed by the fans of sports in Dalhart.

They were elected by the student body in April 1973; they then went right to work and attended cheerleading camp at Norman, Oklahoma, all of this in preparation for their leadership in the fall.

There is not a Friday in the fall that you can walk down the halls and see a bare space, for all the signs to boost the spirit of the Wolves. There are also locker signs and signs for the bus and the locker room. A skit is also prepared, yell routines, and special featured speakers are prepared or requested by the cheerleaders.

Our hats go off to a group of girls and their sponsor, Miss Terry who have done a great job this year.

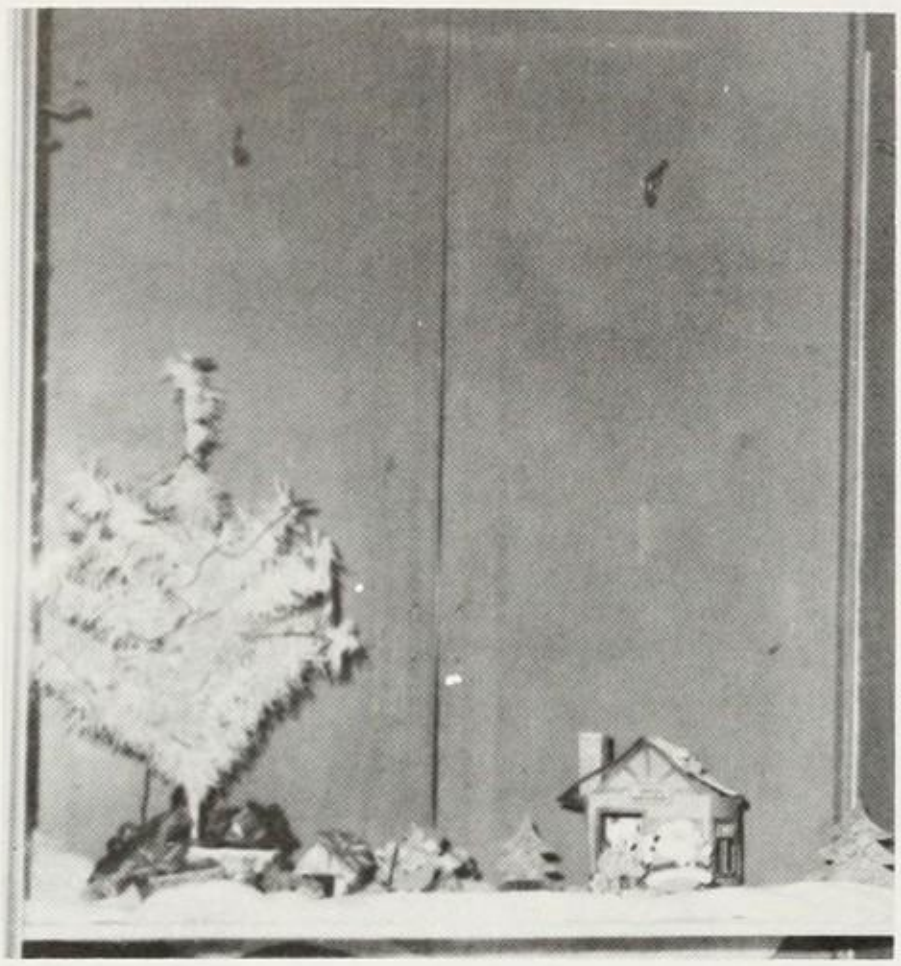
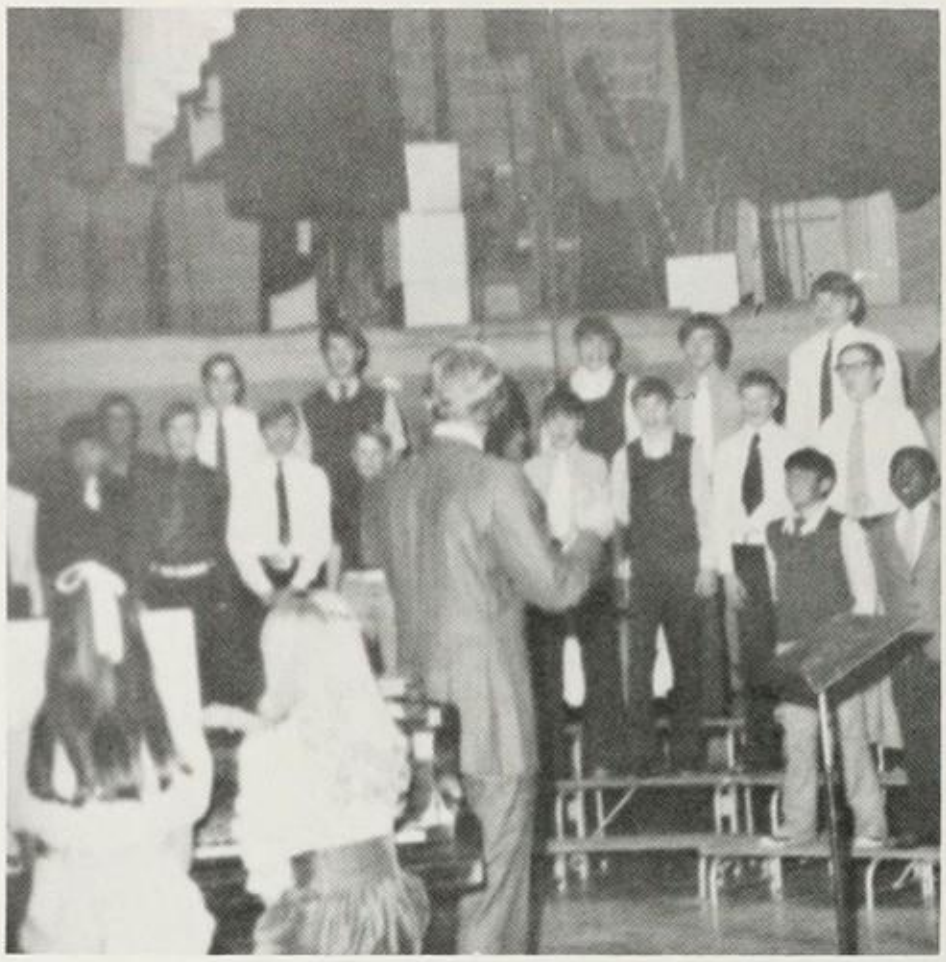
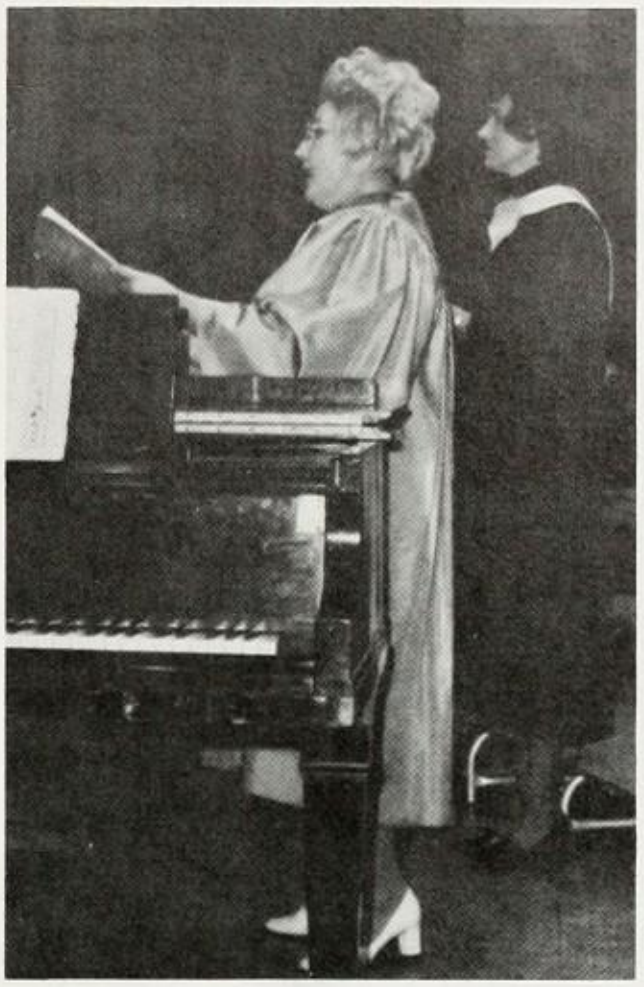
Christmas Is Season to Be Jolly







The climax to the first semester was holiday spirit and gaiety of Christmas. The Student Council trimmed a Christmas tree to help set the mood for the holiday season. Junior High students made their halls brighter by decorating the room doors.

Other activities included choir and band concerts, parties for both students and faculty and a mixer for the student body on the day school was dismissed.

Ministers from the Dalhart Ministerial Alliance brings inspirational messages to the student bodies of Allyn Finch Junior High and Dalhart School at monthly devotional assemblies.

One assembly that was especially enjoyed by the young people was the one presented by the Dallas Christian College Choir. Scenes from this assembly are pictured on the right and above. It was a combination of Christmas songs, both vocal and instrumental, and the telling of the story of the Saviour's birth and his message of salvation by a narrator.

Wolves: Determination Was the Key

Determination led the mighty Wolf Pack to the District Championship in football and to the District Co-Championship in basketball. The Wolves Basketball team, coached by Wayne Tipton, amassed a 17 wins and 7 losses record.

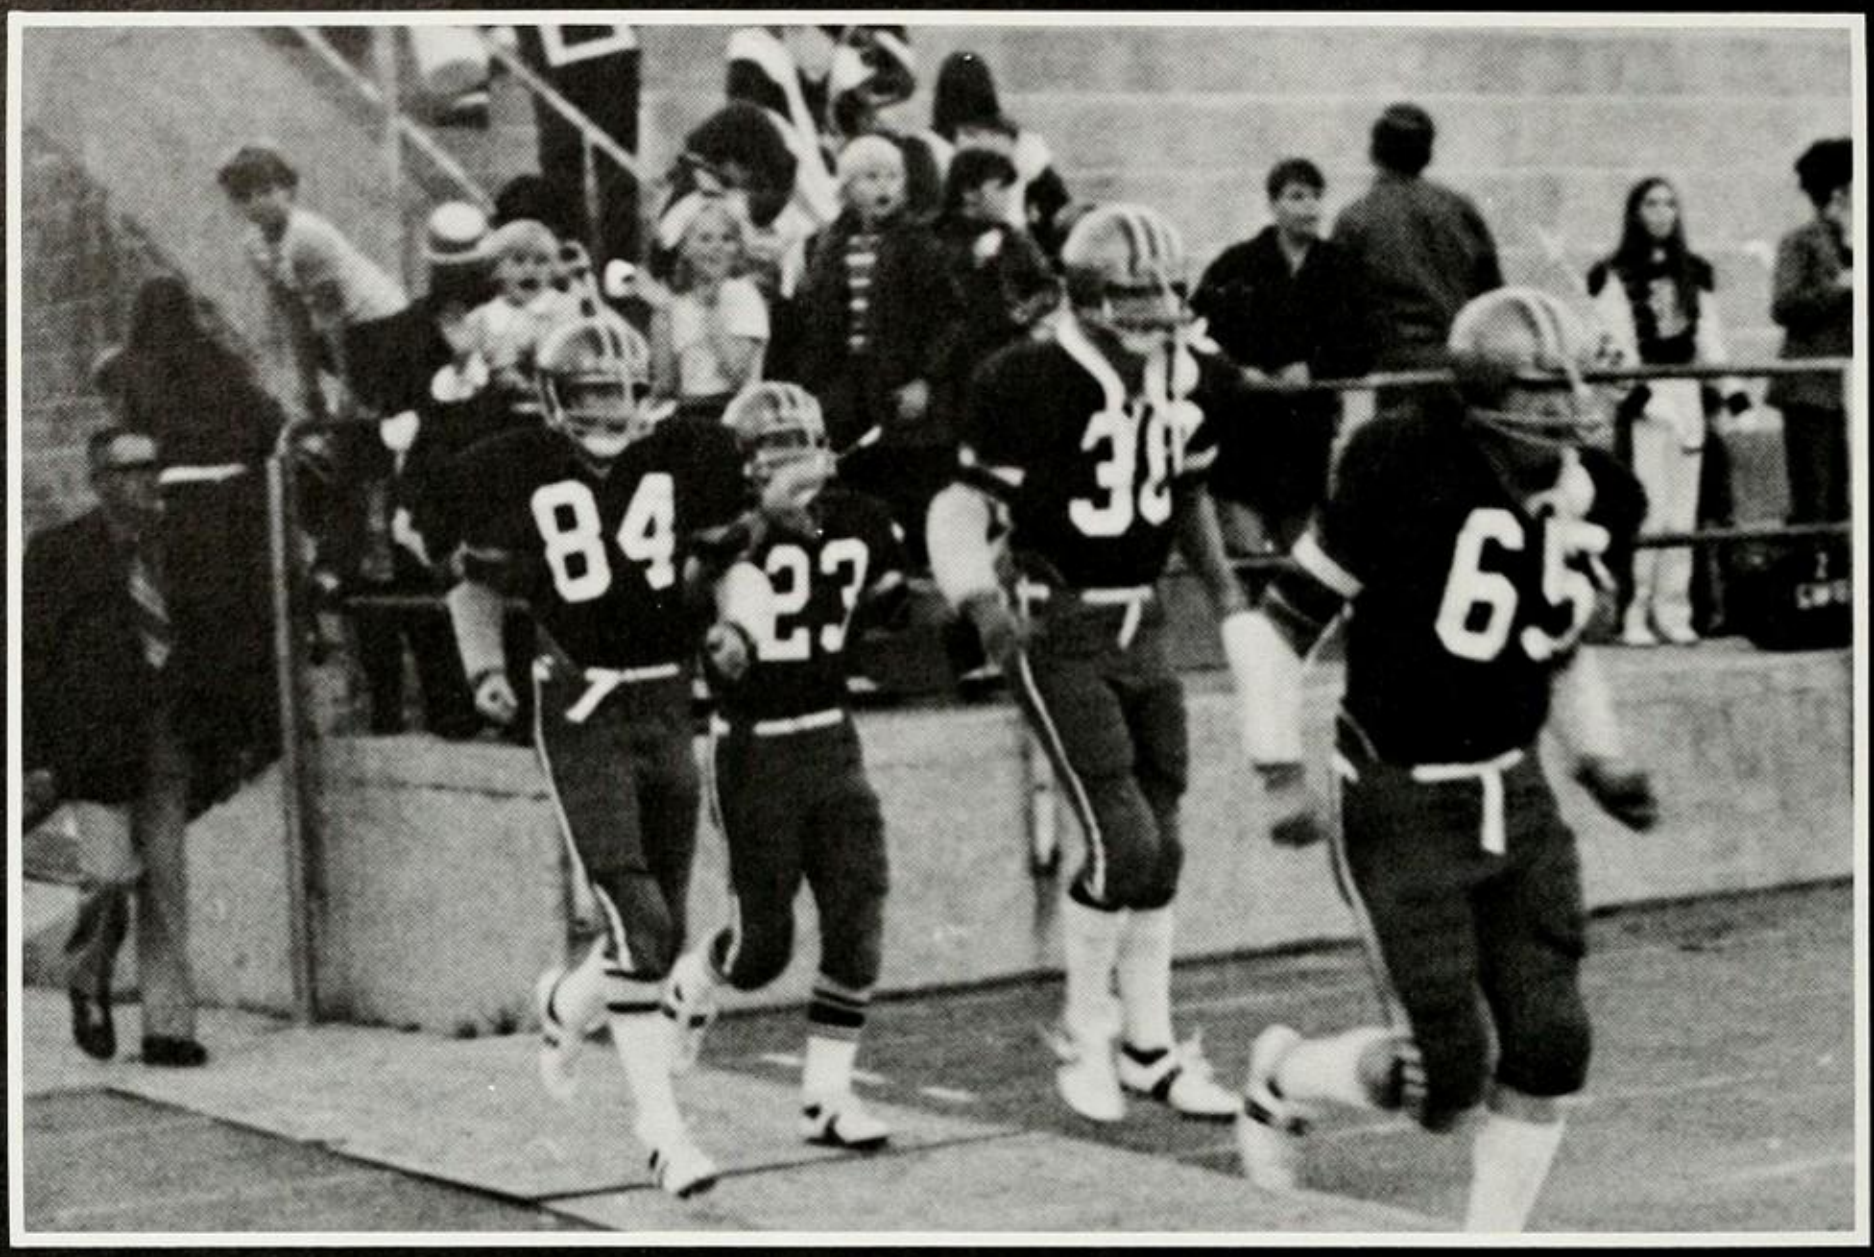
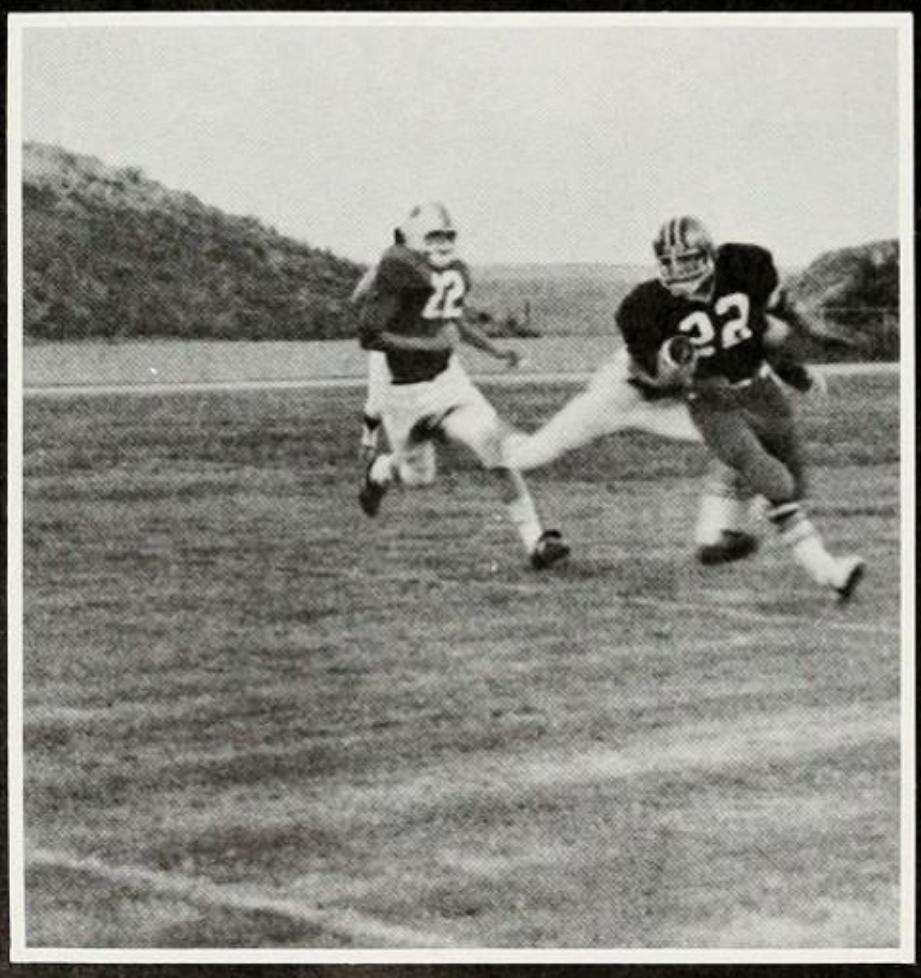
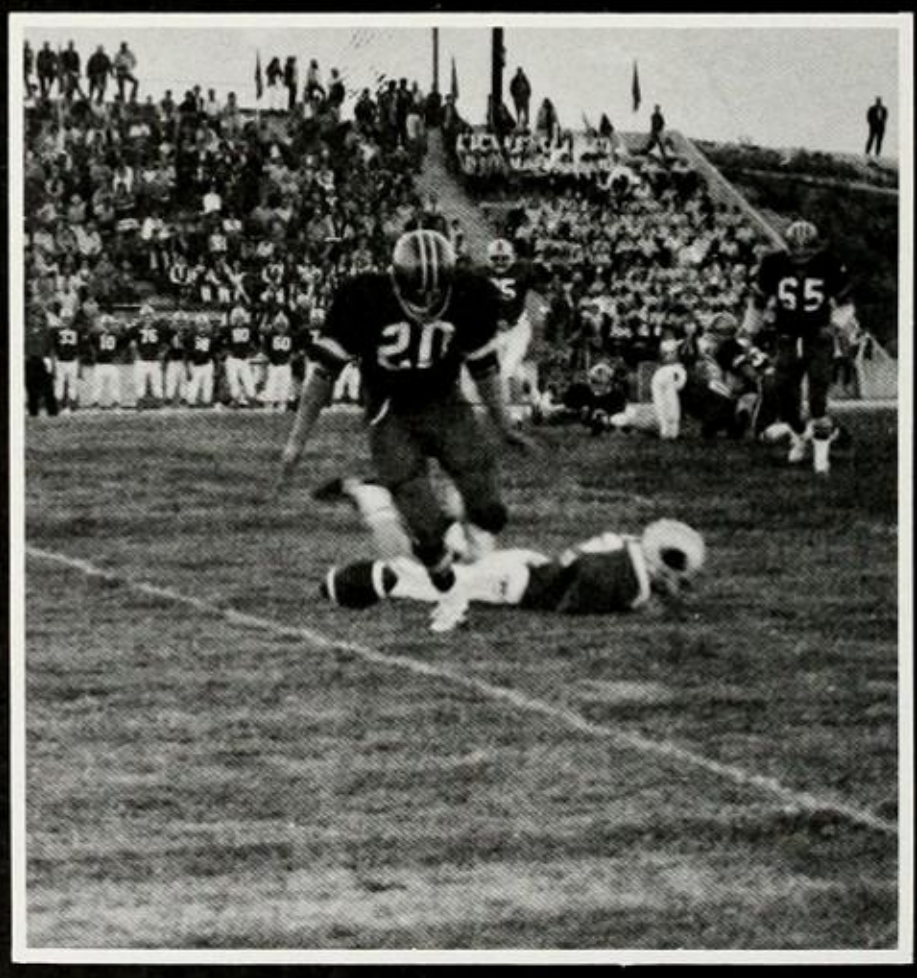
Wolves Eager to Prove Themselves

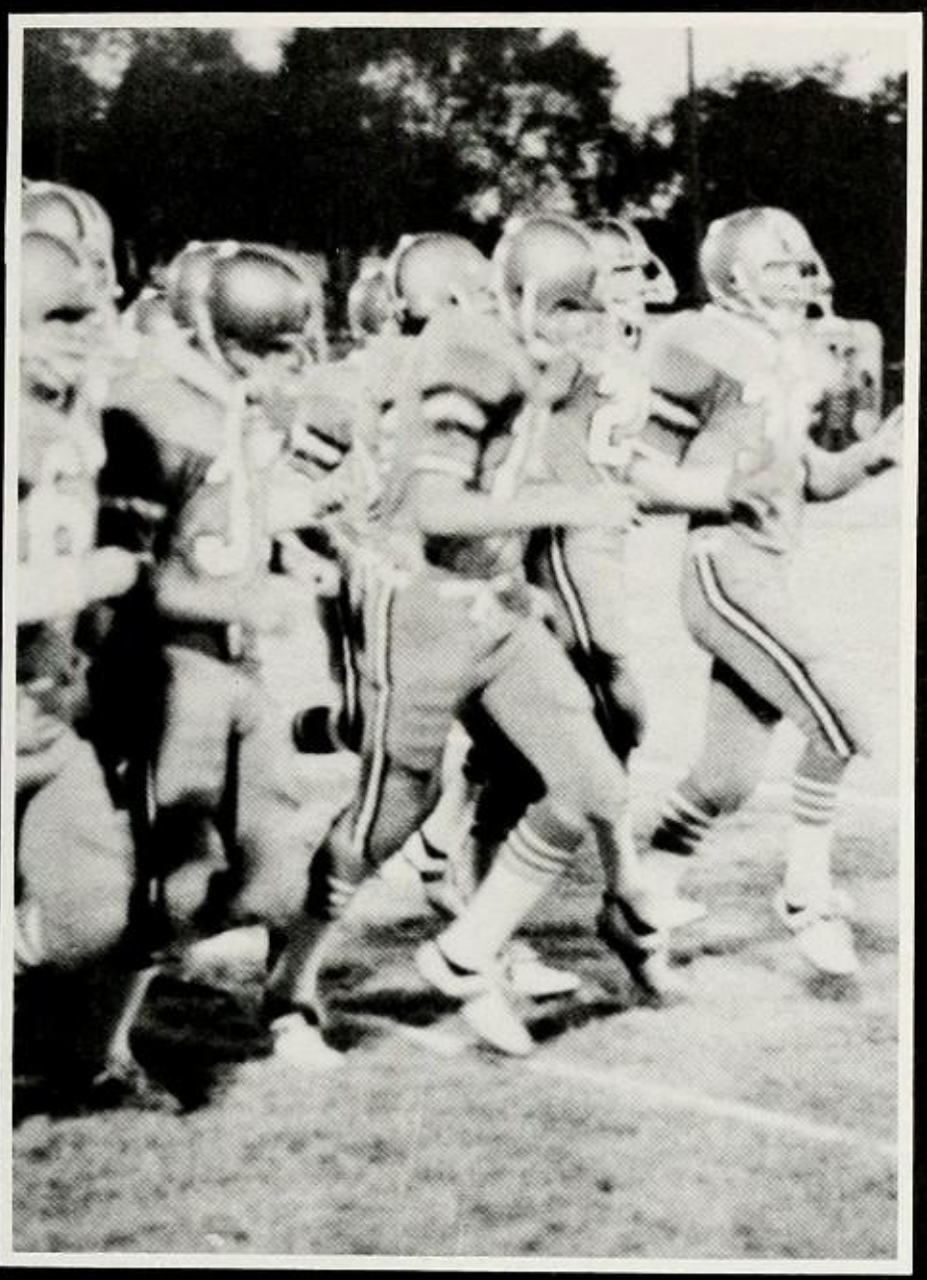


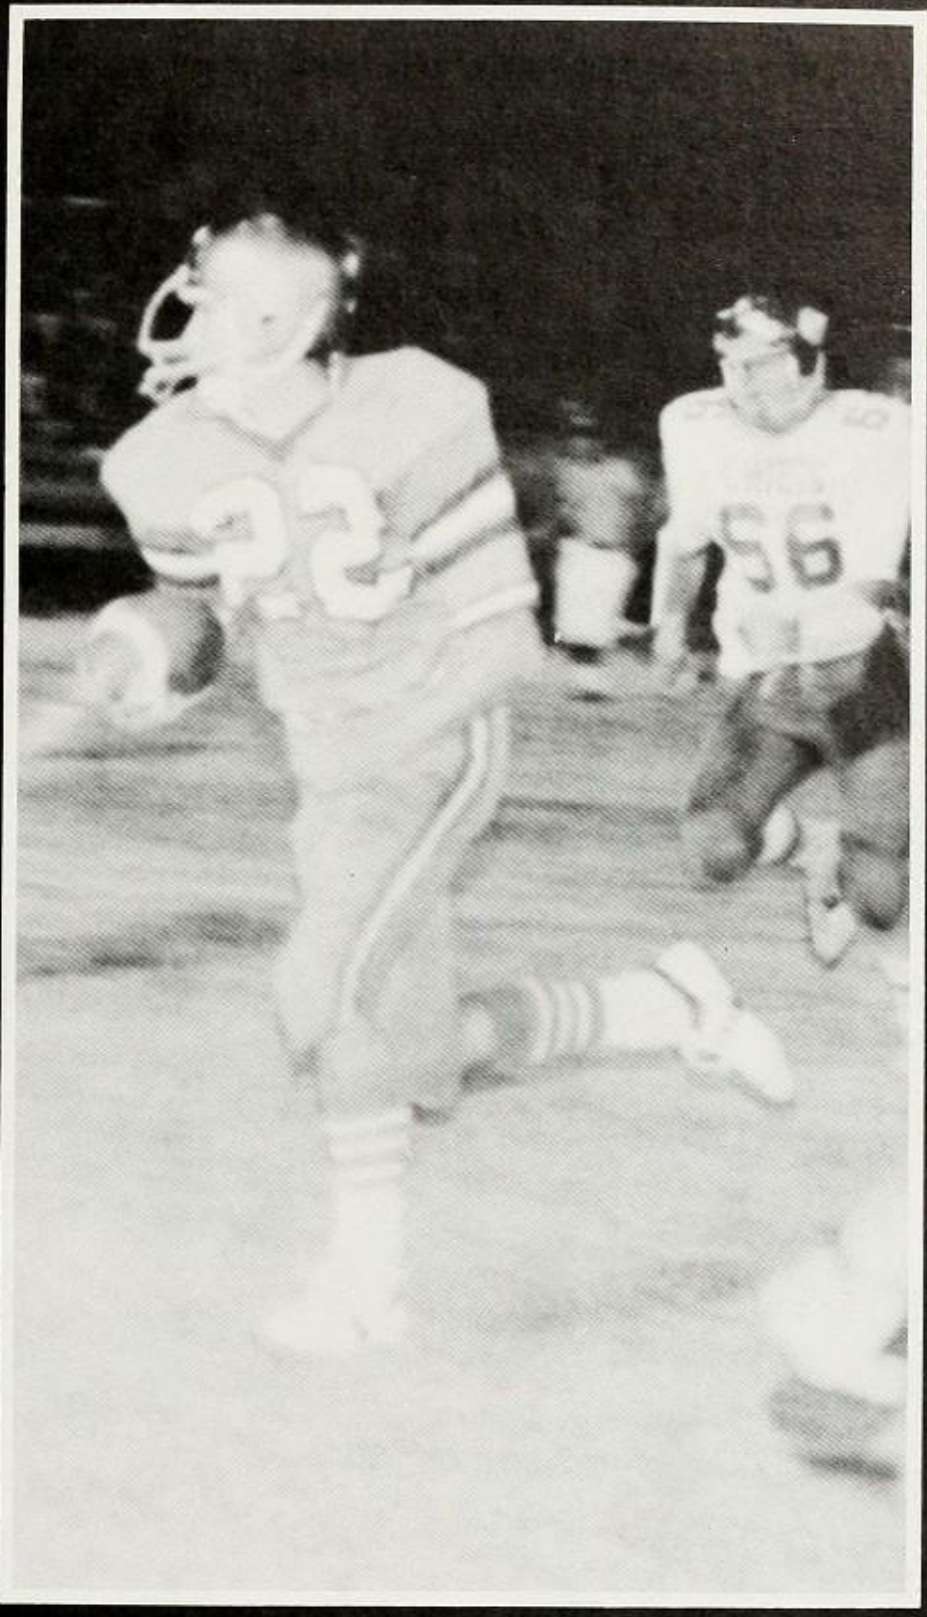


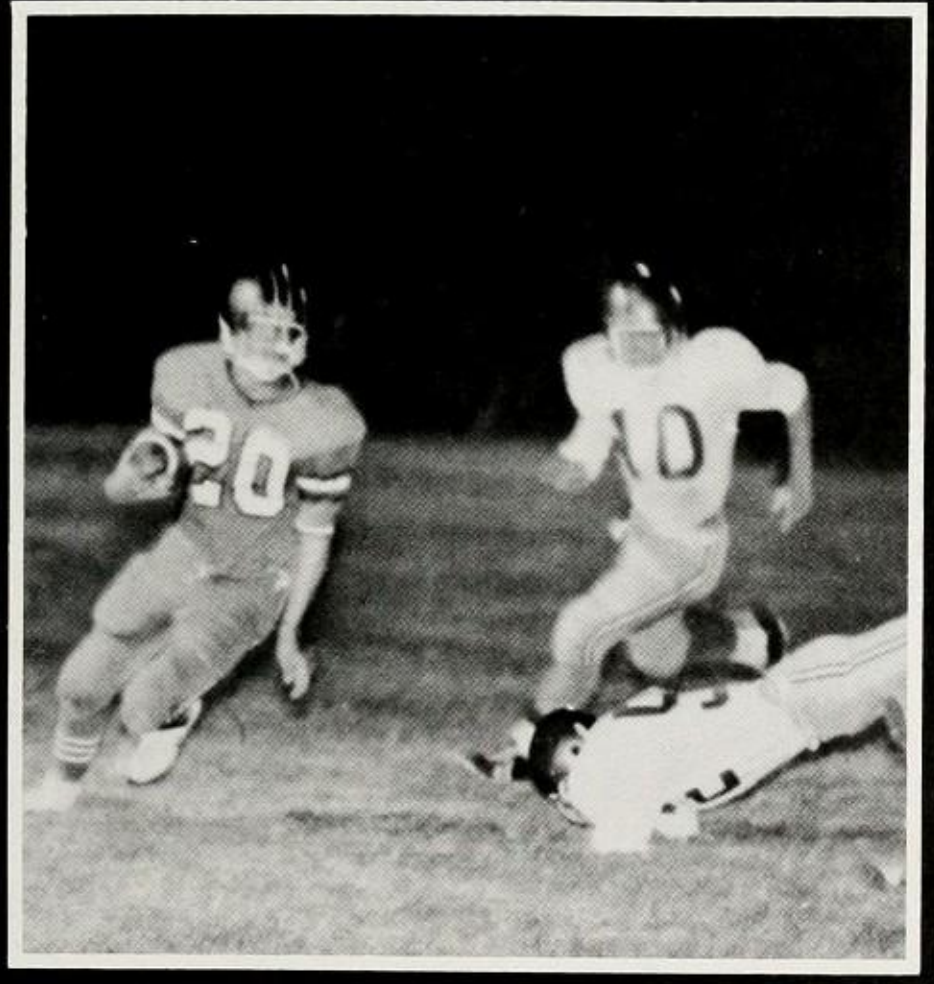


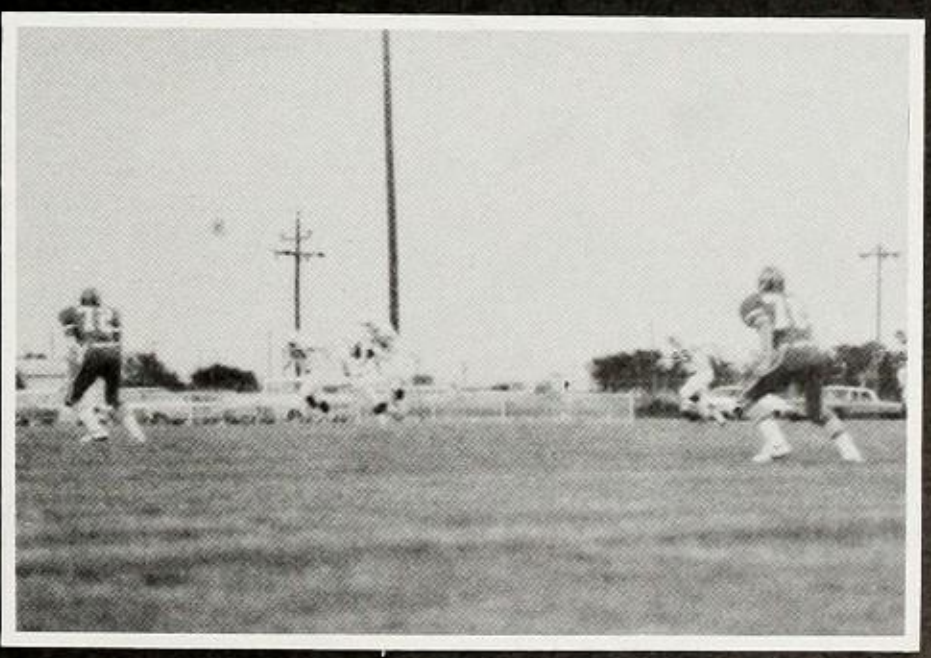
The 1973 football season began in Guymon with the Wolves eager to improve last year's 5-5 record. Coming out onto the field (Above Center; Jay Kuper, Rusty Hammett, Mike Slaton, and Pete Bateman.), the Wolves were anxious for victory #1. It didn't exactly turn out that way. The game turned was to be one of those "no matter how hard we try" contests where we lost the breaks and the game, 8-7. Despite the running of Bob Beaver (Above Left), who scored the only touchdown, the Wolves just couldn't overcome all of the bad breaks. (Above Left; Jim Clayton has ball knocked away by Guymon.

The Wolves Proved "The Pack Was Back"



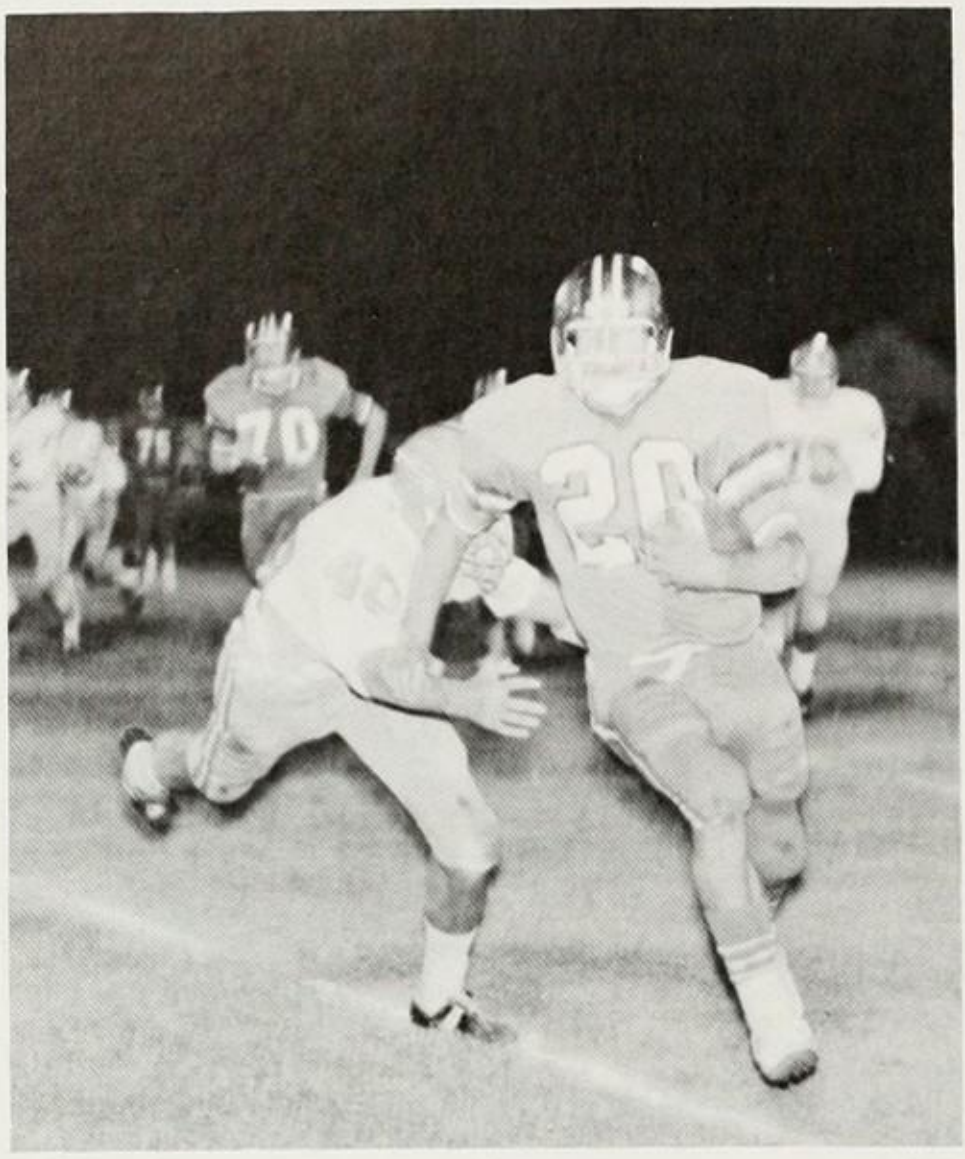


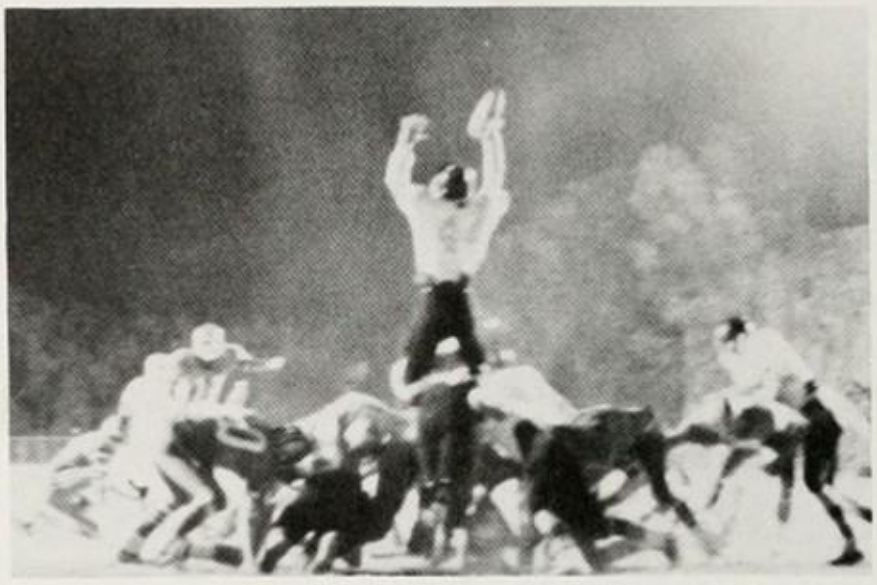


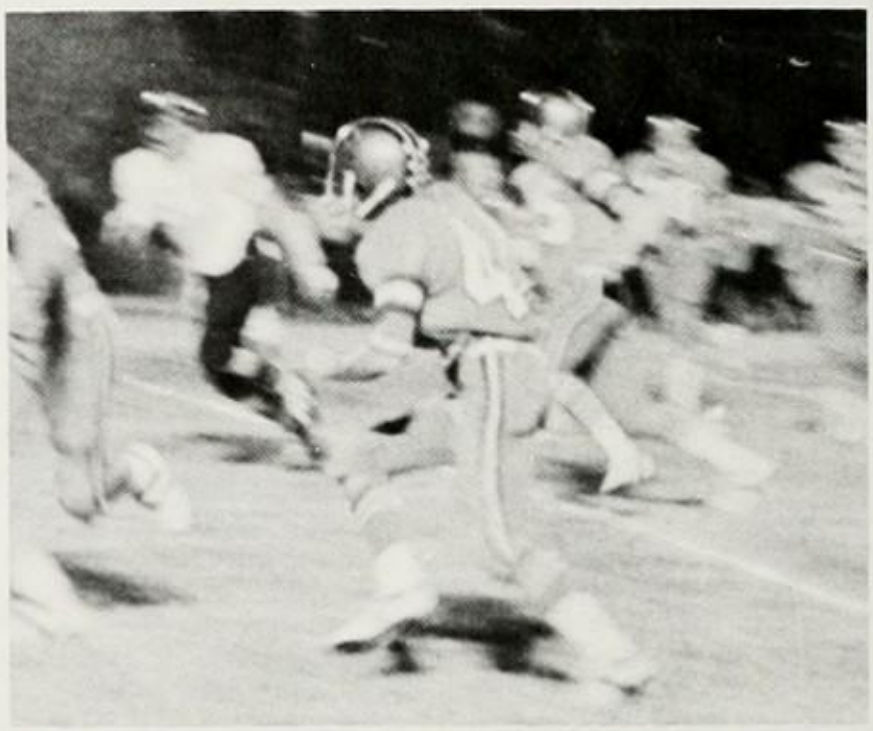


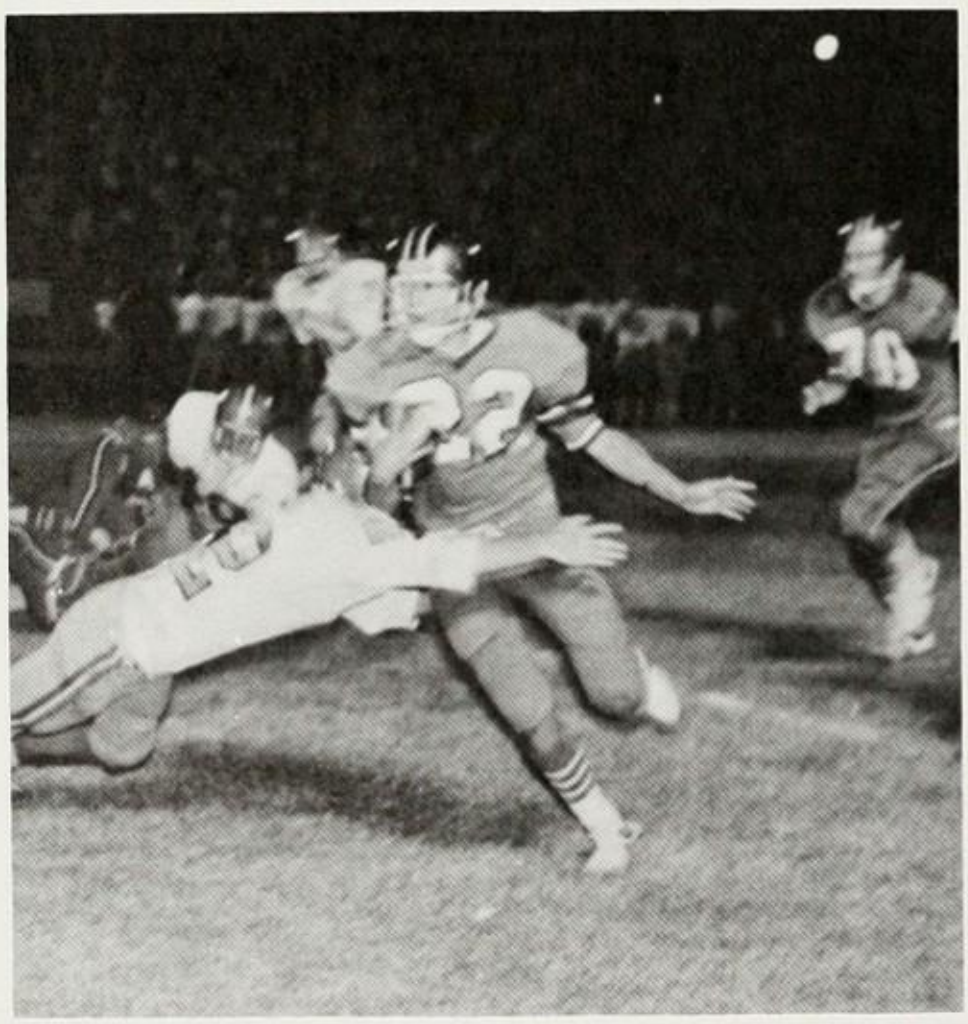
After Guymon came Stinnett and a 30-0 defeat. About the only good thing in that game was the opening kickoff, (Lower Right). The Wolves were down with two straight defeats and no wins. But then came Tucumcari and the "boos" turned to cheers. (Upper Left; Wolfpack on the field before Tucumcari game) (Lower Left; Jim Clayton turns corner against upended Rattler.) We won 56-0. The Wolves traveled to Dimmitt to try to even the season at 2-2. In the rain and mud they upset a very good Bobcat team 12-0. Friona came to town, another very good team, and although the Chieftans were favored, it was Dalhart who won, 19-13. (Upper Right; Rex McPherson outruns Friona) The Wolves were back now with three straight wins and two shutouts. The Golden Wolves were ready for district.

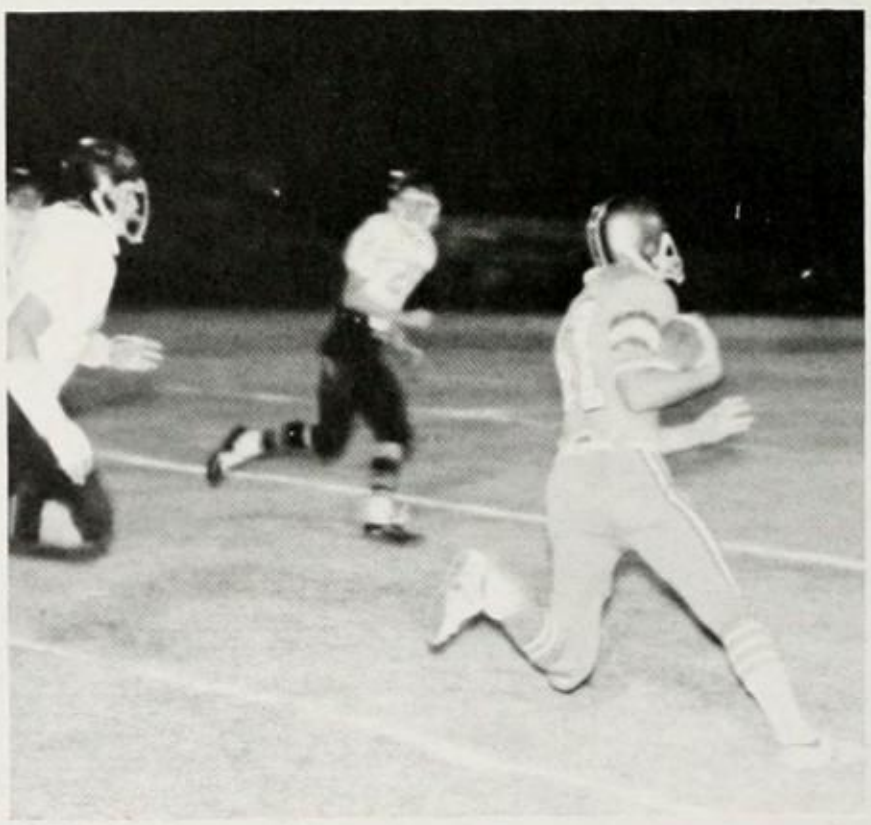
Wolves Moved Into Conference Games











The Wolves wanted to prove themselves in district competition, so they clobbered their first district opponent, Phillips, by a score of 54-14. The Wolves ran the Blackhawks to death.
(Lower Right) Ted Higgins scrambles past Phillips en route to touchdown. Even the Blackhawks who could fly.
(Upper Right) couldn't stop the offense from scoring. Spearman was to be the only real test in district and they showed us their real strength as they pulled the Wolfpack into a 22-22 tie. That was the night Spearman scored a touchdown with 7 seconds left in the half and also the Wolves missed a touchdown by a foot at the final gun. We not only lost our chance for an easy district title but Jack Mullins, quarterback, as well. The Golden Wolves still ran and passed pretty good, though.

It was about this time that everyone said that the Wolves couldn't win district. But the Stratford Elks were beaten, 13-6 and Panhandle was defeated 21-6, by the Wolves. In our last game, Boy's Ranch was defeated, 31-6.

"A teacher is many things: knowledge, democracy, a sense of wisdom, opened hearted and loving their kids. The teachers know that when times are hard the students will come through for them."

The student body and community of Dalhart appreciate what the teachers of Dalhart do for them.

CLASS OF '74

Senior Year . . .
a Good One

A class of 100 seniors walked out of DHS realizing that this had been their final year. Reflecting on their school career and their senior year, the time flew fast. They remembered the first time they walked into DHS as sophomores and how scared they were.

Homecoming, Interstate Fair, basketball, track, academics, and extra curricular activities were many of the special events they had participated in. Their senior year was one of their busiest, with senior supper, Jr-Sr. Banquet, and finally graduation. The class of '74 can reflect on their high school years and say "They were very good years."

Junior Story

There were 107 juniors at D.H.S., and everyone of them will agree on one thing. "We were in our most special year". "We've struggled long and hard to do the things a D.H.S. junior class does. This year their struggle ended. They sold mums, helmet banks, and they had a pre-supper before the Phillips game. The highlight of the Junior year was the Junior-Senior banquet.

The junior names will be repeated because of their activities, but they can not take all the credit. Partial credit goes to the sponsors; Mrs. Rowell, Mr. Perry, Mr. Boston, Mrs. McDaniel, Mr. Hurst, Mr. McCune, and Mr. Tipton, and all the other faculty members who made those things possible. There is a lot of pleasure in being a Junior, but there is a lot of work.

This work is organized by the junior officers; Kevin Green, president; Brad Stout, vice-president; Ricky Booth, secretary; and Kim Fields, treasurer. The class was excited or thrilled about the new opportunities offered to them through Honor Society, VICA, DECA, English III, American History, chemistry, physics, Algebra II, trig, shorthand, office practice, ICT, DE, and ACT.

This class had a great lasting unity that made it special from all others. It is what most people call pride, but Diana Lee calls it "true feelings of a D,H,S, Junior. That means pride, unity, understanding, and a few other exquisite qualities.

Juniors Get "Involved"

The schoolboard of Dalhart Independent School District is charged with the administration and direction of the school. This includes selection of administrative, teaching and auxiliary personnel; preparing and approving a budget; recommending a tax levy, setting up instructional programs and extra-curricular activities. They act as a liason between the local district and the Texas Education Agency and federally approved programs. Their duties are prescribed by state law. They also have audiences with school patrons and strive to meet the needs of children and young people of the district. They meet regularly the second Tuesday of each month, plus numerous called meetings for special purposes.

Schoolboard members: Seated: Mr. Harlon Gaskill, Dr. A. S. Abdullah, Mr. C. J. Kuper. Standing: Mr. C. R. Smith, Mr. Jack Culbertson, Mr. Billy Chestnut, Mr. Arty Watkins.

Cooks-Cafeteria Bottom To Top: Mrs. Files, Mrs. Schniers, Mrs. Williamson, and Mrs. Hall.

Mrs. Loftin kept a record of money brought in.

A major change was made in the lunchroom program this year. Instead of free choice of hamburger, hot dogs, and snacks, a type A lunch was served daily to approximately 230 students. It consisted of meat or a meat substitute, vegetables, hot rolls, dessert, and milk. The standard price was 45¢ for students, and 50¢ for adults.

The cooks who did all this work were Mrs. Doris Schniers, Mrs. Fred Hall, Mrs. Iva Files, and Mrs. Mary Williamson. They were assisted by Dianne Dunn, Margaret and Bonnie Hall, Donna and Vicki Watson, Mark Kuster, and Mike Gill.

Mr. McCune kept a stern eye on the lunch line to see that no one "cut in".

Mr. Herman Nettleton was very faithful to his duties in keeping the high school building clean, comfortable, and a welcome to the students and faculty. Mr. Nettleton retired January 1, 1974, and Mr. Sam Green, Senior, became the new custodian.

At AFJHS, Mr. Joe Crespin and Mr. Joe Coleman served as custodians; they also helped to care for the Physical Education Building. Mr. Coleman's picture appears on another page of the annual.

It includes books, magazines, reference material. Audio visual aides include slide and film strips projectors, tape, casette, and records, players and viewers for classroom and individual use.

The Dalhart Schools have maintained classes for slower learners since 1947, but this year is the first time that a resource room has been provided at Junior High. Previously, students had to travel to either North Ward or Dalhart Elementary School for special help. The Junior High School resource room is known as the Basic Skills room and students who have trouble with subject matter such as reading, language, or math may be assigned two or more periods a day in the resource room to receive instruction in the basic skills from the teacher, Mrs. Ondracek, and the teacher aide, Mrs. Richardson. In addition to classes, students in the basic skills program receive complete pre-vocational assessment from the PESO Educational Service Center in Amarillo to help these students plan a career after school graduation.

Junior High at Last - and Moving up

The seventh graders' goal at the beginning of the year is to be accepted into junior high. They have to learn to participate with others and to share their ideas. They have given up childhood and are reaching out for maturity.

The seventh graders enrolled with great expectations for the year. They cheered on their football and basketball teams, celebrating their wins and learning to face defeat.

Some seventh grade subjects are: language arts, math, choir, band, O.A., social studies, and science.

The seventh graders surpassed their goal and now they are "with it."
